Rabbi Goldenson Makes Address At Confirmation

Class Of 34 Confirmed In Ceremonies At Cathedral Sunday Afternoon

SPLENDID PROGRAM GIVEN BY CLASS

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger Given Great Credit For Event

Declaring their faith in the religion of their fathers, thirty four young men and women were confirmed Sunday afternoon, June 12, when the Confirmation Exercises of the B'nai B'rith Religious School were held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral auditorium. For the occasion, approximately 1,000 relatives and friends were gathered.

Impressive as the exercises of previous years have been, it did seem that those of yesterday surpassed them. Perhaps it was the beauty of the appointments, perhaps the size of the auditorium had something to do with it, and yet the most outstanding reason seemed to be the young people themselves. All of them took part in the program, and the manner in which they acquitted themselves reflects upon their own ability and the two persons most responsible for the training of them, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger.

Rabbi Goldenson in Charge

Rabbi Samuel Goldenson of Rodef Shalom Temple, Pittsburgh delivered the main address of the afternoon and it was such an address that disciples of any faith could have heard with profit. A learned gentleman, a polished orator and a profound thinker, Rabbi Goldenson left the impression of genuine sincerity when he had finished.

"Exercises such as these are splendid things," he said, "and yet they amount to little if they are not followed with lives that testify to the honesty of the principles enunciated. This is a wonderful class of confirmants and I hope for them that the training they have received in this religious school will be the guiding influence of their lives after they have passed beyond this confirmation today."

One other outside speaker was present, Hon. Joseph L. Kun, President of the District Grand Lodge No. 3 of the Independent Order B'nai B'rith. "I have come across the state to hear these exercises," said Mr. Kun, "and as I sat through this impressive ceremony it occurs to me that no mere laymen could possibly add anything to the air of spirituality that seems to surcharge the place. Seldom have I seen any exercises to equal these, and yet I can not find the names of the two people responsible for this school, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger." Mr. Kun paid a glowing tribute to the two local people for their work.

Soviet Russia Is In Turmoil

Police Continue Drive Against Anti-Soviet Plotters With Determination

WAR CLOUDS ARE HOVERING IN RUSSIA

By EDWARD L. DUESS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, June 13—Soviet Russia is in turmoil today.

While political police continue their drive against alleged anti-Soviet plotters there are complicated difficulties in the external relations of the government which have led to war talk.

There is a general belief that Poland's reply to the latest note on the assassination of the Russian ambassador Wolkoff will not be sufficient to satisfy the Russian demands.

The semi-official newspaper Isvestia says that only Poland's assertion of a determination to repudiate "The British inspired anti-Soviet plots will make a bloody war preventable."

Ten additional Russians, alleged to have been employed by the Rouhanian Secret Service, have been sentenced to death at Odessa.

President Coolidge To Leave Washington For Vacation Tonight

To Start Trip To South Dakota To Spend Summer Months

Will Make Stop At Hammond, Indiana, For Address Tuesday

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Leaving Lindbergh to a jubilantly expectant east, President Coolidge tonight will leave the national capital to meet an also expectant west. Into the Black Hills of South Dakota he is going to spend a summer in as rugged and as isolated a spot as any executive ever chose for a summer white house.

Enroute Mr. Coolidge will stop off at Hammond, Ind., where, tomorrow, he will dedicate Wicker Park in the center of the world's richest industrial area.

Setting Precedent

In electing to summer in South Dakota, the president is setting a precedent, for never before has a chief executive spent any considerable time farther west from Washington than Ohio. Altitude and politics are understood to have swayed his choice, as his physician told him he should go at least 4,500 feet above sea level, while South Dakota is the first of the primary states to vote on 1928 presidential candidates.

The spot selected is the state game lodge, a twenty-odd room affair located 32 miles from Rapid City where the temporary executive

Despondent Over Wife's Death, Man Ends His Own Life

Had Made Trip To California In Hope Of Benefitting His Health

FRANK PAPE, 66, SUICIDE VICTIM

Despondent over the death of his wife, Frank Pape, aged 66, Canyon street, grocer, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a revolver early Sunday morning. Pape's wife died last December. He has grieved for her ever since, and at times became very melancholy.

Makes Trip West

In the hope that a change of might be beneficial, he made to California, returning but a short time ago. During his absence his nephew, Joseph Ritchie, looked after his store on Canyon street. Mr. Ritchie says that Pape seemed to take but little interest in the business after his return. He complained that he could not sleep. At night he did not like to be left alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie had been sitting up with him late at night. On Saturday night he appeared to be unusually restless and Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie had remained in his room until 4 a. m., when Pape went to sleep and they retired to their own room. Pape had a revolver in his room, but before going to their room, Mr. Ritchie secured the gun and took it to his own room, laying it on a chair by his bed. He and Mrs. Ritchie then went to sleep.

Gun Is Missing

They were awakened soon afterwards by a noise that sounded like a shot. Glancing at the chair where he had left the revolver Ritchie saw that it was missing, and surmised what had happened. Running to Pape's room he found him lying on his bed, with a bullet hole in his brain and the revolver by

Celebrate Flag Anniversary In Special Service

Patriotic Service Is Conducted At Trinity Episcopal Church Sunday

EXCELLENT ADDRESS BY REV. P. C. PEARSON

Patriotic And Service Organization Delegations Take Part In Program

In an impressive service according to the rites of the Episcopal church, the 150th anniversary of the American flag was fittingly observed last evening in the Trinity Episcopal church in the presence of several hundred representatives of 17 service and patriotic organizations of the city.

The address of the service was delivered by Rev. Philip C. Pearson, rector of the church, who spoke not only along historical lines but also urged that the flag should inspire not only patriotism in the time of war but in the time of peace.

Service Inspiring

The service in all its varied phases was an inspiration to those present and was inaugurated with a procession of the vested choir through the church to the altar, headed by the cross and an American silk flag of the original design of 13 alternate red and white stripes and a field of blue in which there were 13 white five-pointed stars.

The choir, under the direction of Prof. Paul Browne Patterson, rendered music in keeping with the occasion, including "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America".

After extending a welcome to the representatives of the various organizations participating, Rev. Pearson said among other things: "It is interesting that the 150th anniversary of the American flag should occur in the season of Trinity Sunday, for tradition has it that the white indicates the holiness of God, the blue the love of Christ and the red the fire of the Holy Spirit.

"It is significant that the nation born July 4, 1776, should be the first to adopt a flag. Congress adopted the flag June 14, 1777. There have been men and women who have bled in defense of the flag even to the last drop of blood.

"The flag has ever, with the possible exception of the war with Mexico, flown in conflicts which were in the cause of freedom and righteousness. It was in such just causes that it led our people in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the Civil War, the Spanish-American War and the World War.

Wars Are An Emergency

"Wars are an emergency in which a nation finds itself involved. Happily for us, the preponderance of the years of this country have been spent in peace rather than in war.

"I would ask all those who fought and bled, or who had those who laid down their lives in time of war, to think along the lines of patriotism in peace times.

"Under normal peace conditions as great honors as those of war

Boy Narrowly Escapes Choking To Death As Penny Lodges In Throat

Arthur E. Gurgiolo, aged 6, son of Mrs. Della V. Gurgiolo, 315 Shaw street, narrowly escaped choking to death Sunday, following his return from Sunday school.

On his return and while in the act of having his clothing changed, he laid down on the bed. He had a penny, which he was tossing up in the air and suddenly, his mother heard him gagging and gasping for breath.

She soon discovered that the penny had fallen into his open mouth and lodged in his throat threatening to close it up and shut off his wind.

Unable to get it dislodged by ordinary means, she called a taxicab and rushed him to the family physician, who finally dislodged it and caused it to pass on into the stomach.

Had it not been dislodged in this way, according to the attending physician, an expensive, rare and serious operation might have been necessary. The result is that today, he is none the worse of his experience.

This is the same little fellow, who

COL. LINDBERGH REACHES NEW YORK AT 12:30 O'CLOCK FOR RECEPTION AFTER FLIGHT FROM WASHINGTON

Thousands Upon Thousands Take Part In Epochal Greeting To Flier

TUMULTOUS GREETING IS ACCORDED FLIER

Streets Packed Densely With People Out To Pay Tribute To Hero

By JAMES. L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 13.—Aflame with color and bursting with enthusiasm, New York today roared a tumultuous welcome to Charles A. Lindbergh, who three weeks and three days ago blazed a glorious trail through the air from New York to Paris.

"Lindy!"

That was the affectionate greeting roared from millions of throats. Again and again, in thunderous volume, the huge throngs stretching from the Battery to Central Park, shouted that one word in a hysterical frenzy.

Guns boomed, harbor vessels shrieked, factory whistle blew, automobile horns honked and people went wild with admiration as Colonel Lindbergh made his triumphal entry into the city.

Memorable Event

Nothing comparable to it has been witnessed in New York since the return of the famous Twenty-Seventh Division from the World War.

Even Admiral George Dewey's reception upon his return from Manila Bay in 1899 was surpassed, and certainly the welcome was as great as that accorded General John J. Pershing when he returned victoriously from the World War.

Bedlam broke loose when "Lindy," in an Army amphibian plane, descended gracefully in the gleaming waters of the harbor.

The big guns from Governors Island and Fort Wadsworth boomed their greeting; whistles and sirens on the hundred of craft of all sorts, from majestic ocean liners to tiny tugs, that choked the harbor, were unloosed and from the green slopes of the shore, thousands of people let forth a mighty roar—"Lindy."

Waves to Crowds

"Lindy" smiled shyly. He had expected a reception, but nothing quite like this. He waved to crowds lining the decks of the flag-bedecked vessels. He was soon transferred from the cockpit of the plane to the city's official boat, the Macom, which was brightly dressed in flags from stem to stern.

Bands aboard the boats played stirring tunes as the Macom, with the famous guest on deck, steamed up the harbor through a lane of several hundred vessels to Pier A, at the Battery.

Airplanes droned overhead in the bright sunlight, sweet music to "Lindy's" ears. He looked upward frequently as the flyers executed fancy formations.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—With a wave of his hand and a cheery grin, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh sent a speedy army pursuit plane into the air at Bolling field at 8:54 o'clock this morning—bound for New York and another tremendous homecoming celebration.

A last-minute bit of hard luck forced the youthful flyer to abandon his trans-Atlantic plane "The Spirit of St. Louis" on the field and take an army plane for the two-hour journey.

Lindy Lands In New York Harbor At 12:30 O'clock

BY RICHARD CHAPLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

POSTAL OBSERVATION TOWER, NEW YORK HARBOR, June 13.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, came back to New York today, the point from which he started on his great non-stop flight to Paris. The army amphibian plane in which he flew from Mitchell Field was first sighted over the harbor at 12:13.

After flying over the entire Marine parade, Lindergh landed in the harbor at 12:30.

The young American "ambassador without Portfolio" circled about the 200 odd ships gathered in the harbor to welcome him back to the city; swooping in graceful curves about the Macom, official reception boat bearing officials of the city, state and nation.

For some minutes "Lindy" continued to circle about, to the accompaniment of a deafening roar from scores upon scores of ships. The roar of his engine was hardly audible above the din.

The Amphibian maneuvered and sought to make a landing at Quarantine, but the welcoming craft were too closely packed in to permit a safe landing and so the craft tacked and finally landed off Fort Lafayette.

As soon as the Amphibian hit the water's surface there was a dash of small boats across Gravesend Bay to be close to the hero of the hour, but police boats shepherded them back and the Macom came alongside and Colonel Lindbergh and his pilot went aboard to receive the first words of official welcome from New York.

Final Tribute Is Given Lindbergh At Washington

Greatest Fliers Of Day Gather At Breakfast In Lindy's Honor

FAMOUS MEDALS ARE PRESENTED

Lone Eagle Enters List Of Immortals In Aviation And Science

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was entered today into the ranks of the immortals of aviation and science. It was the final honor conferred upon him before he left for New York to receive the acclaim of the great Metropolis for his epochal flight to Paris.

The greatest figures in modern-day aviation attended a breakfast in the flyer's honor early this morning, and saw conferred upon him a life membership in the National Aeronautical Association, which has been conferred upon but nine other men in history; and the Hubbard Medal by the National Geographic Society, which is reserved for the trail-blazers in history and science.

In Mayflower Hotel

The breakfast was held at the Mayflower Hotel before the Capital, which has so signally honored the youthful flyer, was awake.

President Porter H. Adams of the National Aeronautic Association told "Lindy" that he well deserved to take his place beside the nine other holders of life membership in the organization. They are Wilbur, Orville and Miss Katherine Wright, Samuel Pierpont Langley, Octave Chanute, John J. Montgomery, Charles M. Manley, Glenn Hammond Curtiss and Thomas A. Edison.

The youth who seemed ill at ease in the pomp of an official celebration, was at home at the breakfast, where he could talk aviation with those who understood. He beamed his appreciation when Commender Richard Byrd, whom he beat in the race to Paris personally presented the Hubbard Medal.

Leaders Attend

Among the leaders in aviation present were chiefs of the Army and Navy Air Corps, Donald Hill, designer of the "Spirit of St. Louis;" Capt. A. C. Read and Capt. H. C. Richardson, trans-ocean fliers; Lieut. L. C. Maitland, world speed record holder; Glenn Martin, pioneer aircraft builder; Robert Nungesser, brother of the missing French Ace; Lieut. Russel Maughan, "dawn-to-dusk" flier; George K. Burgess, lighter-than-aircraft designer, and Dwight Morrow of J.

Then I asked the other driver and he answered in this vein, "say that other guy's a cuckoo, drives like some cross country train. He was hogging all the roadway, and I slowed to let him pass, and the next thing I remember I was sitting on the grass. Oh these automobile drivers who are never driving fast, and who always pull off sideways to allow one to get past. NEW YORK, June 13.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was presented with the scroll of the city at city hall today by Mayor James J. Walker, while thousands looked on and applauded, the text of the scroll follows:

"The City of New York.
"To Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, America's air ambassador.
New York to Paris.
Non-stop flight.
"Greeting.

"On this historic spot and in this historic seat of our city government, it has been our custom to extend our municipal welcome to many of the notable people of the world. Here the chief magistrates of the City of New York have received many noted heroes of the land, the sea and air. Lindbergh back to the city from which you set forth on your courageous non-stop flight to Paris.

"From this, the youngest of the great cities of the earth, your intrepid voyage carried you braving the perils of the air and the sea, to Paris, one of the oldest cities of the world, And by your glorious flight you not only attained the ambition of aeronautic science but, enhancing your prodigious accomplishment by the modesty and diplomacy that is found only in genuine heroism, you inspired in the hearts of European peoples a warmer affection and a great admiration for your own beloved country and her people.

"The youth of our nation has found in your conquering spirit of courage and youth an encouraging and illustrious example.

"The great fame which you have won in the glory of your youth, not only for yourself but for America, this city inevitably shares with you.

"From New York you sailed on your adventuraus exlpoit; to New York you return bearing the triumphant laurels of the old world's tribute and the name of our fair city is linked forever with the fame that is yours.

"The people of New York delight to honor you, their hearts are wide open to you and in their name. I present to you this scroll of honored welcome that you may have a permanent record of how the people of New York, speaking through me, hold you and your epoch-making deed in honor for all time.

Hamilton Platt Back From Seattle

Former Resident Says New Castle Shows Marked Improvement In Recent Years

Hamilton Platt, one of the oldest printers of New Castle who started to learn the trade on the Lawrence Journal in 1869 who is now connected with the Post-Intelligencer of Seattle, Washington is visiting in the city and says that the improvements in New Castle are wonderful.

Mr. Platt recalls the conditions when he worked with such old timers in the printing and news service as W. E. Thomas, Jeff Reynolds, John Nesbit, W. J. Miller. At that time some 50 years ago the News force consisted of five men when the "Guardian" was first started with George E. Treadwell, R. G. Gill, Wm. Platt and himself on the force. All type was set by hand and presses were very simple and primitive compared with the fine modern equipment by which the News is now put out.

Mr. Platt came to New Castle as a boy in 1864 and for about 7 years was connected with the printing trade and publications of the city. In 1875 he went to the government printing office at Washington, D. C., where he was until 1882 when he went to the far west where he has been ever since. For some time he was in the furniture business but lately has come back to his first love and is now located with one of the leading newspapers of Seattle.

Mr. Platt said that in his travels all over the country he has seen no newspaper office and press like that in New Castle and that it is one of the finest improvements that he finds in the city since he last visited it some six years ago.

Mr. Platt is staying at the home of J. E. Ligo while in New Castle. He expects to be here for some time before he returns to the west. Many of his relatives are located in and around New Castle.

Lack of space prevents any attempt being made to go into detail as to the content or quality of any single address. Nor would it be fair to the others to single out any one or two for special mention for all of them were remarkably well presented. Apparently there had been much time and thought given to the subjects and through all of them ran the keynote of sincerity which surrounded the day's events.

As has been said it was an impressive service. For the young people themselves it marked the transition from childhood to man's or woman's estate. It was the line of demarcation separating them from a carefree condition to that where they will now be held responsible for their own actions.

Stage Beautifully Decorated

For the Confirmation Exercises the stage of the auditorium was decorated with ferns. Back of the class was the Shrine and one of the first things on the program was the filling of the shrine with roses by the class. As they placed their pink and crimson buds within the white satin covered shrine it made a picture that will not be forgotten.

The program opened with a violin solo by A. Levine who played, "The Swan," by Saint-Saens. The processional was played by Mrs. A. Roman and A. Levine and the opening prayer was offered by George M. Kline. Following the placing of the roses in the shrine, Mrs. E. Roman and A. Levine played the Cavalleria Rusticana and the Floral Prayer was offered by Madalene J. Marlin. Then came the address of the Confirmants.

Following the blessing of the Confirmants, Mrs. E. Roman and A. Levine played "Traumeri," by Schurman, the closing prayer was offered by Dora Winnick and the benediction was pronounced by Rabbi Goldenson. The diplomas were then presented and the Recessional played by Mrs. Roman and Mr. Levine.

A pleasing feature of the program was the special music presented by Mrs. James Evans and Paul A. Welsh, two of the city's better known soloists. They were accompanied by Mrs. Paul A. Welsh.

Such a service will surely have its effect upon the lives and actions of the young people who were a part of it. Certainly they could not present such a program without receiving some permanent impressions from it. Nor were they alone in this for the crowd present could not but help be impressed with the very genuine sincerity of the young people, the beauty and solemnity of the occasion and the air of spirituality that surrounded the entire program.

times have been and may be made to enhance the glory of our national emblem. The workers, the captains of industry and others in all lines of human endeavor have and can continue to add to the glory of the flag.

In this connection we have but to remember Daniel Webster, Hay, Choate, Hughes and others of our statesmen and leaders who have done much in the interest of peace and to the glory of our flag. And now we have Charles A. Lindbergh, that wonderful ambassador of peace. Such patriotism of peace times has done much for the good of all."

Rev. Pearson then urged that the people of this country must assume their responsibilities as individuals and use new and often untried methods to meet the constantly changing and new situations that arise.

He said, among other things, that the best way to teach patriotism in the younger generations was in the pre-memorial day visitation of the schools by the veterans of all wars. Another thing that is vital to our country, he said, was need of inspiring the voters with a patriotism that would get them to cast their ballots.

his side. Pape had gone into Ritchie's room, secured the gun and then came back and shot himself. BOY NARROWLY ESCAPES CHOKING TO DEATH ON PENNY when but four years of age, became a regular patron of the New Castle Free Public Library, owing to his remarkable ability to read books at that youthful age. He has been a regular patron of the library ever since and hardly a day passes but he secures a new book.

His unusual ability was shown in school this year, his first term. Owing to his age, he was not able to start until the second semester in January. The second day in school, he was advanced from Grade 1-B to Grade 1-A. His work was of such an excellent character, that he was promoted to Grade 2-B at the close of the term, making two promotions in half a year at school.

COL. LINDBERGH LEAVES CAPITAL IN ARMY PLANE

the motor. The trouble was a faulty cylinder, a "sweaty cylinder" they call it in the air service, and upon the advice of brother flyers at the field Lindbergh reluctantly decided to accept a substitute plane.

Two score planes accompanied him into the air, the staccato roar of their motors drowning out the cheers of several thousand watchers who, despite elaborate military and police precautions, had gathered at the field to see the getaway.

The first group of single-seaters preceded "Lindy" into the air, and the first observation group, composed of two-seaters, followed him.

Bids Washington Goodbye

Lindbergh bade Washington goodbye with a flourish and gave experienced aviators at the field a final thrill by his daring take-off. As his landing wheels left the ground at the end of the run, he "pulled the stick into his stomach" as they say slangily in the air service and zoomed straight up into the sky. But the little Curtiss motor was sturdy and she never faltered. He banked over, raced into greater altitude, did a loop and circled the field twice while the two-seaters were getting off the ground in groups of three.

He shoved off in the teeth of a strong northeast wind which had the flags about the field whipping stiffly in the early morning sunlight. The strength of the breeze may slow up his flying time to New York, although he was confident he would make it in two hours anyway. The distance is approximately 230 miles.

Take-Off Spectacular

The field was muddy from last night's heavy rains, but the take-off was accomplished without mishap either to "Lindy" or the escorting planes. The trim little Curtiss taxied out, headed into the wind and began to travel. Like a pert bird she started skimming head-on into the wind, gathering speed as the motor raced. The tail went up as she straightened to her work and then he pulled the stick backward and soared aloft in a terrific burst of speed.

"Wow", said a pair of army pilots who witnessed his breath-taking getaway.

He circled the field until his escorting planes were all up and going. Then he turned the nose of the little racer northeast by the compass and roared away. In five minutes he was but a speck in the sun-shot haze of the early morning, and in 10 minutes he was out of sight.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, the North Pole flyer, took off from the field in an amphibian naval plane soon after "Lindy" soared away.

After the departure it developed that several days' work probably will be required before the "Spirit of St. Louis" is again ready to fly. The engineering officer of the field reported that a cam follower was cracked, swollen and stuck. While it will not be necessary to tear down the engine to make the repairs, one cylinder will have to be removed entirely, it was said.

Tommy Jones May Be Mounted Cop

Suggestion Of Mounted Traffic Cop For Downtown Is Considered

Councilman Louis Genkinger today approved the suggestion of Patrolman Thomas Jones who claims that a horse can be used to good advantage in handling traffic in the downtown business section.

"I think Jones' suggestion is good," said Councilman Genkinger today. Recently Mayor Dunlap declared Jones suggestion contained merit and it is probable that the idea will be tried out soon.

Several persons, it is said, have horses for sale and should a docile animal, which can be broken in easily for traffic, be bought Jones may be given the assignment to become a mounted patrolman.

Council is also agitating the construction of two bridges for traffic relief, one at North and the other, at Lawrence, across the Neshannock river.

Councilmen declare they have the approaches necessary for the two downtown bridges and recently held a conference with county commissioners, stressing the need to relieve downtown traffic.

"Not very much, Papa," replied his daughter sweetly, "only you."

Town Talk

It is the complaint of many North Hill residents that along with fruit, salads, meat and milk, they have had fresh eggs taken out of their ice-boxes by some of the local "refrigerator raiders,". One lady on Moody avenue reports five dozen eggs taken off her back porch last week.

Along with the honors, decorations, adulations and general all-around fuss being made over Col. Charles A. Lindberg there are some things the country will have to bear with fortitude, and chief among these are the songs which are being dedicated to Lindy.

Almost as soon as the Spirit of St. Louis nosed her way into LeBourget airdrome the song writers on Tin Pan Alley began unlimbering their pencils and the results are terrible to say the least.

A lok around the music stores today reveals a number of songs that are mawkishly dedicated to Lindbergh and his glorious achievement and if the lad from the west had to listen to them, the chances are that he would be almost sorry he flew across the Atlantic.

Mst of them can be described as "blurbs." They have little rhyme and less melody and are very apparently an attempt upon the part of song writers to acapitalize Lindbergh's achievement to their own.

As poems, or as songs they have little merit. As an attempt to do honor to Lindbergh they rate about one-half of one percent. It is to be hoped that Lindbergh doesn't have to listen to them.

FINAL TRIBUTE IS GIVEN LINDBERGH AT WASHINGTON

P. Morgan & Company, whose committee recommended the "five-year air program."

"By your signal achievement you have at one stroke lifted the cause of aerial navigation from the realm of doubt and uncertainty and unfolded before an astonished world the boundless possibilities of aviation," said Adams, in conferring the membership.

"The results of your epochal flight, accumulating and compounding with each passing year, will continue to bear fruit in the advancement of civilization after all here present have come to toil no more."

Lindbergh Responds

In a characteristically brief speech after receiving the Hubbard Medal from the hands of Lt. Com. Richard E. Byrd, Lindbergh spoke of the practicability of a California-to-Hawaii flight. Such a trip is feasible, he said, but he warned against attempting it by dead-reckoning the course, as he did on his New York-to-Paris trip.

"Aviation is on a sound business basis today," the young flier told the distinguished audience of aviation specialists, "and it must continue to be developed along these lines. Trans-Atlantic flying will come, but it will require sound ground organization and extended research and direction by experienced men.

"There is great interest at this time in a flight from California to Hawaii. This flight is entirely practicable. It can be done and it will be done. However, I hope no one tries to make it on the principle of navigation I used in my New York-to-Paris flight.

"If I had struck the coast of Ireland 300 miles north or south of where I did I still could have made Paris, but had I deviated any more I could not have made it because I would have been short of fuel. If an attempt is made to reach Hawaii by dead reckoning and the plane is a few degrees off the course and misses the coast there are several thousand miles of Pacific ocean beyond, with small chance of a pilot's being picked up.

"I believe the flight should be made by radio navigation, or the pilot should carry a navigator."

His brother flyers at the breakfast gave their youthful compatriot, a hearty greeting, in presenting the Hubbard Medal to Lindbergh, Lt. Com. Byrd referred indirectly to his own plans for a flight to Paris, which are now understood to be in abeyance.

"We were hoping to get to Paris ourselves," said the Naval flyer, "but Col Lindbergh got there first, and we all are glad he did."

Officer Charles Longstreth and family have returned from a two weeks automobile vacation trip to Washington and Greene counties. The pelasure of the trip was marred to some extent by the wet weather.

COMMERCIAL AVIATION

THE transatlantic flights of the "Spirit of St. Louis" and the "Columbia" have done more than anything else could to revive interest here in commercial aviation. They have convinced the public that commercial aviation is not only feasible but beneficial as well.

They have also demonstrated that American engineers can produce motors and planes as scientifically perfect and mechanically durable as those of Europe. This country can at least lay claim to quality.

But neither is it lacking in quantity. More than 1300 miles of airways in the United States are now lighted for night flying. Landing fields dot all the air mail and other flying routes. Next year will find the nation with an airway system of 9,435 miles, serving eighty-two cities with a combined population of 24,000,000 people. Two hundred planes in commercial service will then fly a total of 21,536 miles daily, or 573,696 miles monthly. These figures do not include the large number of miles flown by those engaged in commercial and industrial transportation but not carrying mail.

And the federal government has not been idle. The last congress appropriated $82,500,000 for aviation, besides authorizing contracts for planes costing $25,000,000. No single agency in this country has done more than the federal government for the development of aviation.

In the face of these facts and figures it is impossible to agree with those critics who are always belittling the progress of aviation in this country.

12,000 MURDERED

THERE is some gratification in statistics showing that the murder rate in the United States declined 1 per cent last year, but there is only alarm and shame in the report that 12,000 persons were murdered in this country during the same period.

Crime records indicate that centers of population are the breeding ground of killers, but contrary to popular belief the highest percentages were not shown by the largest cities.

Chicago had the largest number of slayings and New York came second, but Jacksonville, Fla., had the most murders in proportion, with Birmingham and Tampa close behind in the order named. Chicago had 510 violent deaths and NewYork gangsters, gunmen and unclassified killers took a toll of 340 lives.

In thirty-seven of the 118 cities studied the murder rate increased last year, remaining stationary or showing a decrease in the other eighty-one.

Mawkish sentimentality shown by the public toward murderers, the slow workings of the courts, racial enmity, gang warfare, temptations for banditry, narcotic drugs, bad liquor and unrestricted sales of firearms are some of the causes to which the high murder rate is attributed.

There are many reasons why the United States should have a higher murder rate than other civilized nations and the alertness of the police of the American city is one reason why the United States may be undeserving of this unenviable reputation. There probably is no other country where as large a percentage of murderers is caught.

THE GREAT ARE NOT FREE

ONLY a little more than a fortnight ago young Charles Lindbergh was his own lord and master, free to go where he pleased and when he pleased, and unburdened by responsibilities. Today he finds himself an international celebrity, an unofficial ambassador, hedged about with red tape, compelled to consult others as to his goings and comings, the idol of the multitudes, the cynosure of all eyes, the great and near-great vying to do him honor, and scores of reporters and photographers recording his every move and word.

During his brief stay in Europe he was no freer than a chaperoned sub-deb. The desires of kings, princes, presidents and societies, not those of the young flier, determined where and how he would spend each minute of the day and night. It was reported that official representatives of the United States in Europe accepted or rejected all invitations sent him.

President Coolidge decided when and on what boat he was to sail for home and made Washington, instead of New York, his disembarkation point. And the reception program prepared for him left him no part in deciding how he was to spend his first few days back in the states.

There must be times when Captain Lindbergh wishes, not that he hadn't done the thing, but that he had not been forced to pay the heavy penalty imposed upon those who do the extraordinary. When the daring young aviator completed his history-making flight he became, temporarily, a slave to the public whim and fancy. He will become a free citizen again when waning public interest emancipates him.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:31. Sun rises tomorrow 4:28.

When a man proposes, a girl tries her best to answer in honeyed tones, but what she really wants to say is "You chump, it's about time!"

President Coolidge has been sent two pounds of cheese that was made from milk from his home farm near his home city in Vermont. No doubt that cheese is just as bad as any other kind made in small cities or villages. He has a modern garbage can in the White House.

Some New Castle parents spend the first two years after a baby is born trying to teach it to talk, and then they spend the next fifteen trying to get it to shut up.

Many have not as yet told Mr. Berquist what part they will play in helping him to get the feed for his picnic for the kiddies at Cascade Park on June 23. It will not be long now, so call him NOW!

A hick town is a place where the millinery displayed is only three months ahead of the season.

Tomorrow is Flag Day. This day was set aside for the purpose of displaying Old Glory so that those who love it can get a good look at it and it also helps to inspire some who might not be so enthusiastic. Put out the Stars and Stripes tomorrow and be a patriot.

A smaller wheat crop is predicted for this year. Those who manipulate wheat are sure to find some excuse for raising the price whenever they want more for it. Farmers don't have much to do with the price of wheat except to raise it.

There would be fewer accidents if motorists would cease trying to turn corners where there is no corner.

The man who tries to collect damages on the story his wife tells him after she has had a run in with some other car on the road, is going to have a lot of trouble before he gets the cash for the damage.

Chamberlin and Levine will not fly back to America for one hundred thousand dollars offered them until they consult their wives who are now on their way to Germany. Wives of high flyers even have a say yet as to what the family will do it seems.

There is to be quite an election this fall in Lawrence County. Personally we are not going to tear our shirt for any candidate. The elections can be bad enough without us helping any.

Our idea of an appropriate graduation gift is cash, the more cash the better. If ever there is a time when cash is needed it is when one needs an inspiration to get out and get more. Having cash makes a desire for more we hear.

Backward, O backward turn Time in thy flight! The old-fashioned boy who used to smoke corn silk cigarettes behind the barn now has a daughter who smokes monogramed cigarettes in the parlor.

When the two American flyers reached Munich, which is in Germany of course all the big guns in that burg from the mayor down escorted the heroes to the largest beer palace in the world and let them sample the suds right from the vat, or still or whatever it is that makes beer. The Germans considered this the greatest honor they could pay our heroes. There is no W. C. T. U. in Germany. If there was one it would have to permit beer or it would not last long as beer there is used something like bread in this country. Things all depend upon where you are in this world now.

We are all too selfish. Really, it is our duty to allow ourselves to be bored occasionally. The pest doesn't know he's a pest. The interminable talker doesn't know he's a windbag. The gossip doesn't know she's a gossip. In a spirit of philanthropy, I guess it's up to us to submit to an occasional attack.

We have an idea if members of future grand juries discover that taxes will be increased if a new court house or a city-county building is built, we will not want to hear so many recommendations for the grand juries. We sure have had enough recommendations for new court houses and some even want the jail made better.

Speaking of insomnia, a married man tells us that it is catching only when the baby has it.

A Russian count was refused admission into this country a few days ago because he forged a check for four hundred dollars on a New Orleans bank in 1923. There are two things people always remember, when they are given money and when they are skinned out of it.

SERVED 'EM RIGHT

A company of soldiers had been marched to a church to attend services, but it was learned only half of them could get in.

"Sergeant," ordered the captain, "tell all the men who don't want to go to church to fall out," and a large number did so.

"Now, sergeant," continued the captain, "dismiss all the men who did not fall out and march the others into church. They need it most."

You really can shock a modern girl, although their critics would have you think to the contrary. Yes sir, it is easy to shock the dear sweet thing. Just ask her to get up and get breakfast.

A learned reader of this column has honored me with a long letter in which he declares, among other things, that scientists are now trying to explain things so the man in the street can understand them. This is all very good, but I'm here to tell you that the scientists will have to hurry. The man in the street will soon be extinct.

Ladies are said to like four-posterbeds. We recently read of a man who hanged himself to one post of a four-poster but we can't imagine that this is the reason for their popularity. One post is enough if a man wants to use it as a convenient method of shuffling off.

We are wondering now if any Europeans will dare to return our air visits. We'd like to see them.

William Randolph Hearst has offered the flyers Chamberlin and Levine $100,000 if they will fly back from Berlin. Now that is the real test of the trans-Atlantic flight. The trip over seems to be easy enough, it is flying back that counts.

BUILDING

We may lay plans that run through all the years to come, and it is right we should do so; we may build hopes of future achievement—the man is to be pitied who does not thus build; but while working out our plans, while cherishing our hopes, we may each and every day nourish our souls at the fountains of pure pleasure springing everywhere around us. The sky above us is full of varied beauty. "Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge."

—Christian Advocate

Roger Babson urges people to get out of debt. Of course, we would all like to do that, but with new cars coming out, and the radio getting squeaky, and the children needing clothes to say nothing of the better 99 per cent, it seems to us that Roger would have been more of a benefactor of the human race if he could give a recipe for getting out of debt instead of merely telling us what we should do.

"Is your wife still at home?" a gentleman we know was asked by a friend. "Not much," he retorted, "She is louder there than anywhere else."

If Col. Lindbergh makes another across-the-ocean flight here's hoping he will leave all his medals at home. They will add another thousand pounds to his load we know.

An airport would be fine for New Castle but it is not likely that many trans-country fliers would stop here to load up with two cents a gallon tax on gasoline.

That straws show where the rum flows is true of a case in Maine where a druggist was arrested for serving whisky which his patrons sucked from beneath a discreet covering of cod liver oil.

One British novelist, who has just finished a tour of the country, says we are more cultured than the British. This is so different than the usual report from the visitors from abroad that we can expect this man to come back.

The street cars have always been free of graft. Mere wealth won't get you a seat there.

Two of the great services to his country by James Madison, one of the early Presidents, were writing the first 10 amendments to the constitution and the introduction of long pants. Now here's hoping that the golf players won't succeed in abrogating the latter of these two achievements. But they are in a fair way to do it.

I had a girl, her name was Good,
One of her legs was made of wood;
We went to the beach and played in the sand,
And I got splinters in my hand.

"Some men are like hour glasses," an anxious Sheba, declared the other day. "Take mine, for instance, the more time I give him the less sand he has."

President Coolidge is taking the advice of Horace Greeley to go West. Perhaps some of the other politicians and would-be presidents will do likewise.

Europe is now sending us a great many cultured immigrants. But we wonder if they are quite as useful as the old-time railroad builders.

British women are said to be carrying snuff boxes on their hips, as the latest style. Not much room for snuff boxes in this country.

For once New York is playing second fiddle to Washington in the matter of celebrations and Lindbergh got the real kick of the Coolidge presentation

Welcome home, Colonel Lindbergh, this country is glad to see you, and much obliged to you, for good work over the ocean and in Europe.

You have added to the glory of this country, building up respect for it, by achievement.

Mary Baker Eddy used to say, "This is woman's hour." Evidently it is. Fraulein Thea Rache, champion female German flyer, proposes to hop the Atlantic, westward, in her Udet-Flamingo plane.

"Fear?" says Fraulin Rasche to a questioner. "I don't know what you mean." And she doesn't.

Also German financiers, engineers and scientists have undertaken commercial transatlantic transportation. You may fly to Europe and get your name in the papers within a year if you buy one of the first tickets. It will soon be an old story.

Lieutenant Wade, who once flew around the world in leisurely fashion, proposes now to repeat the flight in fifteen days. That would surprise Jules Verne and the late Nelly Bly, if they could know about it.

Perhaps they do know, as they fly back and forth in heaven, possibly with speed of which earth has no conception. There is no reason why angels should not fly as fast as light travels. They would have to go faster than that to visit some of the outlying stars and get back in a million years.

When De Pinedo, the Italian, says he will fly home across the Atlantic, he means it. His plane, after visiting four continents, dropped into the ocean, several hundred miles short of the Azores. His plane mended, he will start for Rome, but first he will fly back to the spot where his plane fell, turn around and fly to Rome from there.

German Lufthansa, greatest commercial flying organization on earth, has now pushed its commercial airplane service through to Teheran in Persia, by arrangement with the Russian Air Transit Co., and the Persian National Airplane Co.

President Coolidge Friday night said: "We—meaning the executive and legislative departments—"are conducting the greatest business in the world." And to show that Uncle Sam's business, running to several billions a year, is well run, he announced that the treasury, at the end of this month, will possess an unprecedented surplus of $599,000,000.

On interest payments alone Uncle Sam will have in 1928, as compared with 1927, $63,000,000.

From 1917 to date, President Coolidge tells you, this country has paid out more than eight billions in interest alone. Don't be a borrower, if you can help it.

P. S. — By the way, income taxes will be reduced next year.

California specializes in superlatives, including Helen Wills. To England, South Africa sent her best girl player, "Billy" Tapscott, and Helen Wills defeated her Thursday in 20 minutes, 6-0, 6-1. She beat Mrs. Mallory, eight times winner of the American women's championship, score 6-0, 6-1. Helen Wills has won twenty-four of her last twenty-five games in the Kent county tournament. That's California climate.

Victoria C. Martin is dead. A past generation knew her as Victoria Woodhull, when she, with Tennessee Claflin, said "Woman is Man's Equal," and, to prove it, started a broker's office in Wall Street. Victoria and Tennessee were curiosities near Old Trinity church. Both succeeded and died rich, Tennessee Claflin was Lady Cook. Victoria Woodhull died at the age of eighty-nine on her magnificent English estate. She used her brain, and lived long. Human beings, like trees, die at the top.

When it comes to killing, bolshevism will take no second place. Russia's ambassador to Poland was murdered. An official soviet communique announced the execution of twenty "white Russians," opposed to bolshevism. Two Russian princes were in the line before the firing squad.

The czar sent to Siberia plotters against his government. Bolshevism shoots plotters against the soviets. Governments change, men don't.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE CHURCH MILITANT

"They that turn the world upside down have come hither also."

This ancient charge against the church is repeated from time to time.

One of the most recent instances is Congressman Free's resolution in the House of Representatives. His statement brings some serious charges against the Federal Council of Churches in America. To these the Council has replied through the Rev. John A. Marquis. The reply states that this Council of the Churches maintains no lobby of any kind. It simply appeals to public opinion. It also declares that the program of the churches will in no way be modified by the unjustifiable attacks of forces which would, if they could, stifle the voice of the churches and weaken their influence in the life of the nation.

The Council declares that it welcomes at all times the fullest inquiry into its procedure, but resents the vague charge made against it.

One charge is that the Federal Council of the Churches is continually adding to its program undertakings non-religious in nature and outside the mission of the Church. Among these activities is specified the prohibition of the liquor traffic and other means than war for settling international disputes.

All of the Protestant churches have distinctly declared themselves in favor of the prohibition amendment and the Federal Council of the Churches are justified in taking the same stand. It represents the body of believers faithful in this position.

As to the settling of international disputes by other means than war, this question has unfortunately shifted into partisan politics, but every intelligent man who has given thought to the question must realize that the unspeakable horrors of war will never be mitigated unless there be some generally accepted plan to settle international disputes without war.

The two greatest cures of the human race are alcohol and war and the Churches are justified in removing the root of these evils if they can.

Time was when doctors were satisfied to go about pickig up and mending the wrecks of disease. More and more they are seeking to prevent the causes of disease and they have already obliterated such calamities as yellow fever, smallpox and malaria. This could only be done by preventive measures.

In the same way the churches for many years have satisfied themselves with trying to reform drunkards to take care of the wreck cases of saloons and to minister to the wounded in the field of war. They have now taken a step in advance and have declared themselves in favor of the removal of the alcohol menace and likewise for the removal of war.

Whether it is justified or not is to be determined by asking the question, What are churches for?

If they are merely to save souls for another world's happiness then they had better let public questions alone, but if it is to make the world a decenter place to live in they are justified in attempting to improve conditions.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

GUAYULE RUBBER.

There is one article used in the construction of automobiles which has been improved more than any other part of the motor vehicle. It is the tire. It is difficult for the rubber industry to keep pace with the expansion of the automobile business. The world is using today crude rubber at the rate of nearly seven hundred thousand tons a year, and the demand is ever increasing. Great Britain and Holland almost control this supply of rubber, because they have been farseeing enough to develop the industry in their colonies. We Americans could have a great rubber industry in the Philippines if we would learn a little more about the right kind of Imperialism, and would silence the Pink Socialist in our midst.

Mr. Firestone is getting a lot of publicity out of his Liberian proposition. Real rubber men don't think much of the possibility of growing rubber in Liberia in any paying quantities, but I see Mr. Firestone is sending President Coolidge a baby hippopotamus from Liberia, and the President is going to accept it and put it in the Washington Zoo. Mr. Firestone is a good advertiser.

The citizens of the United States would like to be free to exploit climatic conditions in Mexico and the Central American countries, but Soviet influences are so busy that no sensible man thinks of investing now in any enterprise South of the Rio Grande, and North of the Isthmus. Nevertheless, a tobacco tin filled with fine seeds was brought some time ago across the Rio Grande from Mexico, and these seeds promise to become the basis of an independent American rubber supply, believe it or not. These seeds are the seeds of the Guayule (pronounced Wy-u-le). The plant takes four years to mature. About ten per cent of its weight is rubber in almost pure form. To mature the Guayule there are required annually about twelve inches of rainfall on very fertile soil. The rubber does not come from the sap of the plant, but is in a layer which forms the inner bark of the shrub. The crop is pulverized in water, the rubber rises to the top and is skimmed. Other seeds followed, and now about 900 acres are planted in California this year, and it is estimated that more than two thousand acres will be planted next year. Just what the result of this California experiment is going to be will not be known until the plants mature, but the inventive and ingenious spirit of Americans has accomplished wonders, in spite of skepticism.

The modest Guayule plant may have a great deal to do with the price of automobile tires during the next ten years.

The Lone Eagle.

And had I been his father
No happier were I
To hear he'd safely landed,
In Parns from the sky.

And had she been his mother
No happier were she
To learn that brave lone eagle
Had crossed Atlantic's sea.

He flew into our presence
Unhearalded, unknown
And all our prayers went with him
As if he were our own.

For facing death and danger
Alone he took the sky,
A brave, stout-hearted eagle
Who dared to win or die.

So true a bond is courage
In times of danger shown
That we who'd never seen him,
Thought of him as our own.

SACRED COWS

India is a strange country indeed. The people there believe that cows are sacred in some way. I learn from Prof. Sam Higginbottom, of Ewing Christian College, at Allahabad, that it costs the poor Hindus about two billion dollars a year to feed and support the growing herds of sacred cattle.

What a tragedy! The people who make up most of the population of India are so poor that they never eat a plentiful meal, from the cradle to the grave, and they never know a day of genuine comfort and well-being. Yet they expend a princely sum to feed and support immense herds of sacred cows that simply live and grow old and die.

If that two billion dollars a year were spent for education, the time would come when India would lead the world in learning. Not in this generation or the next, but in the fulness of time.

As countries and civilizations grow old and develop traditions and wonderful histories, they are all too likely to fall a prey to sacred cows. They are apt to nourish their sacred cows until the stupid animals literally eat the heart out of the civilization that has supported them.

Traditions in themselves become sacred cows in time. It is possible for us residents and citizens of this young republic to look upon almost any one of the old countries of Europe or Asia and recognize the traditional baggage that has grown so heavy through the ages that the poor people of those countries expend much of their energy just carrying it along. There are so many royal families to support in magnificent luxury. There are so many titled lords whose special privileges must be respected, to the detriment of the general good.

And already our own country is becoming mature, so that we have always to be on our guard lest we unwittingly accumulate little herds of sacred cows.

Millions Gather To Greet Lindy Along Streets Of New York

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 13.—Resplendent of flags and bunting and its millions of people seething with excitement, New York early today eagerly awaited the arrival from Washington of Charles A. Lindbergh, air mail pilot and colonel in the United States air service reserve, prepared to give beloved "Lindy" the most tumultuous reception ever accorded an individual.

Even the return of Admiral George Dewey from Manila Bay in September, 1899, and General John J. Pershing's triumphal entry into the city at the conclusion of the World war, will be equalled, if not surpassed, in the degree of popular acclaim and adoration.

No event since the return of the famous Twenty-seventh Division in 1919 has so stirred the emotions of the populace.

Long before the hour which Lindbergh was scheduled to arrive, the slopes along the sea wall, the streets of lower Broadway, city hall park, Madison Square, Fifth avenue, and the thoroughfares feeding into them, were black with humanity. "East Side, West Side, all around the Town," the sidewalks of New York were jammed as never before in their history. Battery Park, where "Lindy" will first step ashore was bulging with thousands of people fired with the ambition to be among the first to roar their welcome to the returning hero, idol of the nation and of the world.

From the Battery Lindbergh, preceded by an escort of 10,000 troops was to move on through teeming masses of humanity to City Hall, where he will be presented with the Medal of Valor by Mayor Walker. And late this afternoon he will reach the climax of the day when he will receive from Governor Alfred E. Smith at Central Park the New York State Medal of Valor.

Two million people—perhaps 3,000,000 or more—will take an active part in the ovation to the courageous youth who three weeks and three days ago stepped into the cockpit of "The Spirit of St. Louis" at Roosevelt Feld, Long Island, and blazed a glorious trail through the air from New York to Paris. There were only a few persons on the field when "Lindy" embarked on that epochal adventure in the chilled dawn of a damp morning but there will be millions waiting for him on his return today.

The Lone Eagle of the Atlantic returns loaded with high honors. He is now Colonel Charles Agustus Lindbergh. He has walked with Kings without having lost the common touch. He has been awarded the distinguished flying cross by the President of his country. He has heard the peoples of the world acclaim his achievement and nothing has turned his head. He comes back the same modest, shy-looking, boyish "Lindy."

Eight thousand policemen, half of the entire force of the city, were on duty this morning, charged with the big task of keeping the huge throngs in hand. Thirteen ambulances, manned with doctors and nurses, will be in readiness along the line of march, prepared for any emergency.

Not only did the city turn out en mass but thousands upon thousands poured into New York from neighboring cities and states by special trains, automobiles and boats. Automobiles bearing the license plates of New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maryland were common, and some came from as far away as Florida and Illinois.

New York, through its mayor, had decreed this to be a day of public celebration, and many mayors of nearby towns did likewise. The schools of this city were closed; most of the business houses had given their employes a day off to take part in the event and even the New York Stock Exchange was closed for the day.

Every building in the city was aflutter with flags and bunting in "Lindy's" honor, and in the windows of almost every home was proudly displayed the picture of "WE"—Lindbergh and his plane.

The city awoke early, having something on its mind. Mothers and fathers took their children by subway and automobile to somewhere along the line of march, all eager for a glimpse at the famous American boy. High and low, rich and poor, were banded together in one simple purpose, to give evidence of the deep affection they bear for "Lindy."

A cloudy sky, carrying the threat of rain, deterred no one.

The exact time of Lindbergh's arrival was uncertain, although it was expected he would reach here about 10:30 a. m., as soon as word is flashed that Lindbergh has reached Philadelphia on his way from Washington, the air force of New York will get into action. Nine National Guard planes, led by Major George Vaughn, will take off from Miller field, to meet him. The great dirigible Los Angeles, will set forth from Lakehurst, N. J., and 165 naval and civilian planes will tune up to act as escort to the honored guest when he nears New York.

In the harbor 158 boats of various sorts, all gaily bedecked, were waiting to screech and whistle a welcome to Lindbergh when he lands. Bands will play on the various boats, the big guns from Governors Island and Fort Wadsworth will thunder its greeting, the crowds on the shore will roar itself hoarse, factory whistles will blast the air, and new York's five-day celebration for "Lindy" will be in full swing.

Ten thousand officers and men of the U. S. Navy, Marine Corps, New York State Militia, National Guards and other military units will take part in the land parade from the Battery up Broadway and by way of Fifth Avenue to Central Park. At the public library thousands of school children will sing songs and add their childish trebles to the voice of Greater New York

In the parade Lindbergh was to be preceded by a float typifying his dramatic flight. The Statue of Liberty and the Eiffel Tower were to symbolize the New York-to-Paris hop that brought the civilized world to "Lindy's " feet.

The city plans to keep "Lindy" as its guest for five days and then he will hop off for St. Louis where further honors await him.

New Castle Man Writes Of Some Of Sidelights On Great Reception To Lindy At National Capital

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Correspondent New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—And for miles around the Washington Monument lies the smell of circus day—the smell of hot grass trampled by the multitude. Yes, a man named Lindbergh has been here and has conquered. You may have read something about the affair in the papers, but it is going to take ten thousand papers to write a full story with all the sidelights of the occasion. Here are a few bits of tinsel that glitter most.

Calvin Coolidge, lauding the hero, never in all his life had a more responsive audience; and as the applause and cheers echoed about the monument grounds the president began making gestures, waving his right arm to emphasize points.

Congressman Rogers of Lowell, Massachusetts, was the first to greet Mrs. Lindbergh as the latter came off the Memphis after seeing her son. She presented her with a purse from a constituent, and invited the flyer to come to Lowell. Senator Hale also presented Lindbergh with an invitation from Maine. Every Senator from New England is hoping to get the Lone Eagle for his locality.

As the sizzling, pitiless sun beat down upon the pale, uncovered face of the president some in the crowd voiced fear of sunstroke. The burning heat made the heavy silk hats of Charles Evans Hughes and other dignitaries look like unspeakable oppressions.

Through the president's address were intermingled the raucous sirens of ambulances conveying sunstroke and accident cases.

French Accent

Did you notice, listening in on the radio, a hint of a French accent in Lindbergh's voice? Perhaps that is not the right description, but the flyer did not have the usual western accent. As he talked he leaned forward carefully into the microphone, both hands seeming to hold to the speaker's stand. But he did not appear nervous. And, "Wasn't his speech a model!" was the comment heard.

As the president said that France in her welcome "took occasion to express her good will to America and Americans," Secretary of State Kellog and Mrs. Coolidge were among the first to clap.

Mrs. Coolidge listened vivaciously, applauded frequently, clapping with her forearms extended straight before her, as is her custom, and was the first to smile and clap when Mrs. Lindbergh was mentioned. And when the latter sat down before the First Lady of the Land had gained her seat. Mrs. Coolidge didn't seem to mind a bit this shattering of precedent.

Waves Silk Hat

As President Coolidge pinned the flying Cross on Lindbergh, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur stepped to the front of the platform and waved his silk hat, a signal for thousands of other hats to wave.

Young Lindbergh seemed to cause no general regret by appearing in civilian clothes, having dodged the War Department scheme to have him decked out in army uniform.

Lindbergh's arrival at the Navy Yard was impressive, but humorous in many incidents. Above in the air which he had conquered, one hundred aircraft circled, the mid-day sun spinning webs of silver on whirling propellers. Below, in the Navy Yard waited a hungry mob of Civilians, diplomats, news scribes, and photographers.

"Where is tradition?" yelled an army officer as the crowd surged and burst through to the very water's edge, when the Memphis docked, with the sailing Lindy waving from the bridge of the ship to the thousands below.

"Tradition," shouted someone in reply. "Who wants tradition! Our old pilot is back home." The officer feared the downfall of military dignity, but the fervor of the crowd flouted all rules.

How Cool He Is

"Isn't he sweet?" questioned the women. "How cool he is," gossiped the men. For every man who boomed out a "Welcome, Charley!" three women screamed louder. Every salute that Lindbergh gave while the Memphis eased into the dock brought a delirious roar of welcome from the crowd below.

Although great care had been exercised in selecting a reception committee of officials, thy really figured but little in the reception. Lindy was the people's own. Everybody—and there were tens of thousands lining the avenues and streets and peering from houses and roofs—considered himself or herself a special committee of one whose duty it was to welcome Lindbergh and to yell "Hurrah for the old pilot!"

Mobs in Side Streets

At the gates of the Navy Yard civilians hurled themselves against the barriers in an effort to keep up with the car that was bearing the conqueror of the Atlantic towards the Washington Monument. But to no avail.

Small mobs surged up side streets and broke through the steel cable that closed Pennsylvania avenue, only to find that Lindbergh had passed but five minutes before. Lawns, flowerbeds, and yards in the line of celebration were trampled and disfigured by the hustling holiday makers.

Waggish boys ascended trees along the way in order to command a better view. Traffic officers suffered nobly in an effort to keep the crowds behind the steel cables.

Early in the forenoon flappers fought with grandmothers for places on Pennsylvania avenue—the line of the parade. Old men with canes prodded youngsters out of seats in order to be in the front line of vision. All sat on the grimy curbstone, happy in the thought that in an hour or two they would see Lindbergh. Peeking spaces in windows, down the avenue, sold for two dollars a piece. Bald heads, wooley heads, and stooped heads swayed for hours above the steel cables isolating Pennsylvania avenue, waiting for a moment's glimpse of the flying Colonel.

Mrs. Coolidge Enjoys Affair

At the Monument grounds a reception committee of a representative of each state of the union awaited Lindbergh. Mrs. Coolidge wore a dress of white barred with blue and a wide-rimmed black picture hat. She smiled frequently and waved at friends seated in the reserved sections of the stand.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was seated at the right of the speakers' platform.

After a wait of fifteen minutes somone shouted that Lindbergh was coming. The President arose and faced Pennsylvania avenue. But the Lone Eagle failed to appear, and the president and his party sat down again.

Mrs. Coolidge stood with clasped hands awaiting the approach of Lindbergh. A band burst into a march, and the First Lady of the Land eargerly kept time with the music, softly clapping her hands together. While the flying Colonel and his mother were alighting from the White House car, Mrs. Coolidg leaned over to Attorney General Sargent and placing her hand on his arm spoke something into his ear.

Frequently, during the President's address she smiled approval and applauded. She made many laughing remarks to Mrs. Lindbergh seated at her right.

As Lindbergh was about to leave the speakers' platform a staccato of aerial bombs roared, and the air was filled with flags floating down on parachutes which bloomed like magic from the exploding bombs.

The parade, over an hour ahead of the widely heralded schedule, deprived some eager thousands of a longed-for sight.

Students To Labor On New Buildings

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, June 13.—The sharp staccato of the hammer and the ring of the axe have been heard in New Wilmington for several days. This preliminary work is in preparation for the intensive work on the "Audley Brown" men's dormitory and the "Old Main Memorial" building which began today.

Three trees have already been cut down on the main campus to make way for the foundation of the new administration structure. It is not known whether or not any other of the traditional trees that surrounded "Old Main" will fall before the axe, but every effort is being made to save as many trees as possible.

The supply and the construction office of the Gilfillan Co. have been erected on the site of the new "Audley Brown Hall" in readiness for the excavation. Although the work on the two structures will begin today, the call for general labor for which many students have elected to spend their summer in New Wilmington will not come until the following week according to reports given out by the contractors.

A man isn't old until he begins to delight in telling what a whirlwind he was in his youth.

Stewart Sees Extra Session As Big Nuisance To President

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WASHINGTON, June 13.—An extra session of Congress is in sight late in the autumn, after all.

It's a cinch President Coolidge doesn't want one.

No president wants any more of Congress than the law allows—or imperatively requires, to be quite exact.

It's particularly a nuisance to Cal. So far as he's concerned, everything's fixed for 1928 about as well as it can be fixed. Congressional monkeying can't improve his prospects and there's the risk that something may go wrong.

However, there's bound to be no end of talk about flood relief—all the more so because nobody really knows what to do.

Agriculture's the same way. It's got to be relieved and no two groups can agree on what will relieve it. So that will have to be discussed indefinitely, too.

There won't be time for all this chin music next spring. Everybody will be wanting to get away for the campaign. So due allowance has to be made for it in the fall. Otherwise, though, an extra session's against the President's personal wishes, his party'll be sore.

The 70th will be a mean Congress for the administration.

The House of Representatives will be all right, but the Senate's hopeless.

On paper there are 48 Republican senators, including Vare and Smith, who won't be seated—but suppose they are, to give the administration the benefit of every imaginable doubt.

Then there are 47 Democrats and one Farmer-Laborite, who'll vote with them on all important questions.

Forty-eight to 48—a tie.

The vice president settles ties, so the Republicans win, in theory.

In practice we must deduct the insurgents from the 48 Republicans. Some insurgents, like Borah, are insurgent only spasmodically, but six senators are chronic cases—LaFollette and Blaine, Frazier and Nye, Norris and Brookhart. Though nominally Republican, they'll usually vote, like Shipstead, the Farmer-Laborite, with the Democrats.

Thus the real line-up is:

Administration, 42; opposition, 54.

Of course, the opposition won't be able to do anything constructive, because the House of Representatives will be pro-administration, to say nothing of the presidential veto.

Nevertheless, a mighty disagreeable situation will be created for the White House.

Its policies will be tied up in a hard knot. Its pet appointments probably will be rejected. It will be roasted for everything it's done and bawled out for everything it hasn't done.

In just one respect the administration has the better of it.

Except for the insurgents, the Republicans aren't badly split into factions.

The Democrats will be pulling one another's hair, as well as trying to pull the Republicans. The Al Smith-ites, the Jim Reed-ites, the Ritchie-ites, the Donahey-ites, the Meredith-ites, the Woollen-ites and various and sundry other "ites" evidently are going to begin having a regular monkey and parrot time of it as soon as the coming extra session opens.

The more they cat-haul each other, the more easily the administration's likely to get off.

Says Hoboes Can Make $15 A Day

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., June 13.—Any good hobo wath a hard luck story can make from $12 to $15 a day in the opinion of Prof. W. B. Bailey, formerly of Yale who hoboed three summers and then for ten years conducted a hobo's lodging house.

"Thanks to the American housewife the easiest thing a tramp does 's to eat" he said, "here last night in telling of his experiences at a Rotary club dinner. "The only objection he has to the American housewife is that she insists on teeding him cake and pie when what he wants is a slice of meat between two pieces of bread.

Commends Action For Sanitation In Camps Of State

Motor Federation Is Gratified At Action By Health Department

HARRISBURG, June 13.—Richard C. Haldeman, president of Pennsylvania Motor Federation, has written to Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health for Pennsylvania, commending the state health department for the rules and regulations which provide for sanitation in camps used by the public.

"Enforcement of your regulations," said Mr. Haldeman, "will do much to conserve the health of those Pennsylvanians and others who patronize camps located along highways."

Dr. Appel has informed Mr. Haldeman that the regulations are being rigidly enforced; and if they are not being observed, he urges that those who discover unsanitary conditions report immediately to the secretary of health at Harrisburg.

The department's regulations apply equally to individuals, corporations, municipalities or other operators of tourist and other camps. A "camp" is any tract of land used with or without charge for camping purposes by the public.

All camp sites must be well drained and situated at a distance from marshes or swamps.

Each camp must be provided with an adequate quantity of pure water, easy of access. The water supply is subject to inspection and supervision of the state department of health.

Adequate and suitable toilet facilities, maintained in sanitary condition, must be provided; and some method of disposing of sewage is required.

Each camp must be supplied with water-tight covered receptacles for the collection and removal of garbage and rubbish. Garbage must not be thrown into ditches, ravines or gutters. The camp site must always be in clean and sanitary condition.

Perhaps one of the most important regulations is that each camp shall be in charge of a capable manager or caretaker, who is responsible for the proper maintenance of the camp and for compliance with the health department's rules and regulations. Copies of these regulations must be posted conspicuously throughout the camp.

The County Medical Director in each county is charged with the enforcement of the regulations, working under the direction of the Engineering Bureau of the Department.

Dollar chasers, eh? Well, there's only one way to get them without a chase and we can't all run sucker games.

SHE WENT FROM BAD TO WORSE

Down to 98 Pounds—Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RIESSINGER, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? Happiness?

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

THINK of a washday that takes but an hour. When big tubfuls are washed sanitarily clean in 3 to 7 minutes. Washed spotlessly clean in the Maytag's life-lasting, cast-aluminum tub that keeps water cleansingly hot for an entire washing. Try the Maytag. Let it do a big washing in your home, without obligation or expense, just to prove how much shorter and easier a washday can be—how much cleaner clothes can be washed. If the Maytag doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Concrete Paving Proving Excellent On City Streets

Concrete pavements for city use is being used more extensively each year and its desirability grows more apparent as time goes on, as has been shown by scientific experiments in different parts of the country.

Since the taxpayers must ultimately meet the cost of paving, city officials endeavor to secure the type of paving that will last the longest and cost the least for upkeep.

"Guess work is on its last legs, so far as the construction of pavements are concerned" says a writer in the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

"The laboratory method of finding out in advance just how a certain type of road will stand up under the pounding traffic it will have to bear has been substituted for the old way of building the entire road and turning it over to the mercies of traffic with the fervent hope it will stand up long enough to justify the wisdom of those who build it."

The chief quality that is sought in a pavement is durability under the most strenuous traffic conditions. This quality was tested out recently by experiments in the state of Illinois where two miles of road was built containing 63 sections of asphalt, brick and concrete pavements of different thickness, laid on various bases.

A fleet of army trucks made 23,000 round trips over this pavement. At first only the bare truck chassis was used. Then loads were gradually increased until a gross weight of 15 1-2 tons was reached.

Many of the sections were destroyed early in the test. Only those sections survived which were of one, two, tree and one-half unsurfaced concrete or were of other types having bases of equally strong concrete from five and one-half to eight inches thick. In every case it was concrete that gave the pavement the needed strength to support the loads and withstand the wear, the report says.

In the opinion of some experts putting some other surface over new concrete is a waste of money. It would be wiser to add a few inches of concrete, giving not only greater wear but greater structural strength to the pavement. The addition of most surfaces to a concrete pavement causes only additional upkeep, and often such surfaces are likely to be slippery, bumpy and generally unsatisfactorily. This has been found by tests made by the United States Bureau of Public Roads at Arlington, Va., it is announced.

It is also a known advantage of concrete that it provides excellent traction. The concrete surface reduces skidding, is attractive in appearance and requires very little maintenance

CHIVALROUS JUDGE PARDONS WOMAN

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 13.—Asserting that he came of stock which believed a woman should not be punished unless "she has reached such a state of depravity that she is no longer a fit person to be at freedom," Judge Robert Moss, in Circuit court, suspended sentence on Miss Elizabeth Munford, who had pleaded guilty to stealing $20,596 from the Anne Arundel County Board of Education.

Miss Munford, aged 51, who had been clerk of the board for twenty years, admitted raising checks of the school board and forging others over a 10-year period.

Women's Hygienic Worries

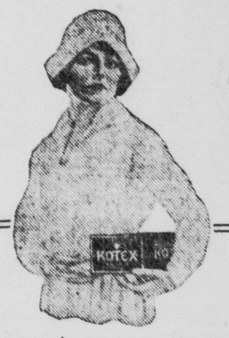
By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse



THANKS to modern scientific findings, women are now almost entirely relieved of old hygienic worries by a new way called Kotex.

You discard Kotex easily as tissue. Which ends laundry and disposal problems completely.

You wear sheer frocks and gowns, dance, motor, go about for hours without a moment's fear—for this way is 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads."

Also, it deodorizes—ending all fear of offense.

You can obtain it at any store, without embarrassment, simply by saying "Kotex." Box contains 12.

Obtain today. Once you try it, you'll never again risk old ways. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Flight To New York Made In Army Plane

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—A last minute change in the plans of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today called for his making the flight to New York in an army pursuit plane instead of his own trans-Atlantic bus, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

The keen ear of the youthful flyer detected a faulty note in the motor of the "St. Louis" as she tuned up on the Anacostia field this morning and upon the advice of his brother flyers at the field he accepted the army substitute.

The engine fault was said by mechanics to be due to "sweat" collected in one cylinder.

Because of the time it would take to thoroughly drain and dry it, and possibility then that the trouble might recur and perhaps result in a forced landing, Lindbergh yielded to the advice of his fellow-pilots and abandoned his "old bus." It was evident that he did so, however, with keen disappointment for he was very anxious to return to New York in the same ship that he left there three weeks ago on his epochal flight to Paris.

Mother Of Famous Flier Will Reach New York In Time To Witness Celebration

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of the trans-atlantic flyer, left the capital early today for New York. She will be on hand to witness the arrival of her famous son when he lands his plane in New York harbor shortly before noon.

Mrs. Lindbergh left in a special car, attached to the regular 12:10 express.

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., June 13.—Thirteen drivers' licenses were revoked and the same number placed on the prohibitory list for one year because of intoxication the Department of Highways announced today. Revocations cover the week ending June 9.

There were 32 revocations for the week. Eighteen names were placed on the blacklist. Intoxication lists included Rose Shaner, Beaver Falls and William R. Barton, Uniontown.

Five licenses were revoked because of felony in connection with the use of motor vehicles. The revocations were Arthur McKee, Albert Holes, Clifford Brady, Steve Breck, all of Reynoldsville and Charles Wyant, Numine.

Motorists Complain About Oiling Plan On Maryland Roads

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., June 13.—Pennsylvania motorists who have complained of the Maryland practice of oiling the entire width of road at one time have prompted Richard C. Haldeman, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, to protest to the Maryland high way authorities.

"In Pennsylvania", said Mr. Haldeman, "it was discovered several years ago that while the expense of oiling one side of the road at a time was perhaps $50,000 a year greater than to oil the entire width of the highway, the road users of the state saved $50,000 a week in car washings and tar removal.

"The wear and tear on their tempers was no inconsiderable item. Pennsylvania oils and chips half the road. When this treatment has dried the balance of the highway is oiled and chipped. Motor car owners and operators pay so heavy a proportion of the cost of road construction that they are entitled to every consideration."

Lutheran Pastor Must Face Charge Of Alleged Heresy

Annual Conference Of Evangelical Lutheran Church To View Heresy Charges

PASTOR RESIGNS; ACCEPTS NEW CALL

(International News Service)
ROCHESTER, Pa., June 13.—The Heresy trial of the Rev. Dr. Frank Edwin Smith will proceed as scheduled at the annual conference of the Pittsburgh synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church here next Thursday, regardless of the fact that Dr. Smith has resigned to accept the call of another denomination, it was stated here today.

Church officials cited Dr. Smith for heresy for his denial from the pulpit of his church of the Virgin Birth, the miracles of the Bible and other doctrines of the Evangelical Lutherans. The penalty for conviction is expulsion.

Rev. Dr. E. B. Burgess, president of the synod, explained that his church would take no official notice of the Rev. Smith's resignation as pastor of the Lutheran Memorial church of Pittsburgh, and his subsequent acceptance of a call to become associate minister of the First Unitarian church of Pittsburgh.

Rev. Smith has already refused to recant on the position he took in expressing disbelief in several of the Evangelical Lutheran doctrines. He will be tried and expelled, it was considered likely here as a warning to other ministers. But his status with the Unitarian church will not be affected by an action taken here, it was stated.

The eighty-fifth conference of the Evangelical Lutheran church will convene here tomorrow, but Rev. Smith's case does not come up until Thursday.

Television For 438 Miles In Special Tests

Telephone Lines Between London And Glasgow Are Used For Experiments

Expect Soon To Make An Effort To See And Hear Over Ocean

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 13.—Television over a distance of 438 miles of telephone line was accomplished by John L. Baird, the famous Scotch television expert and inventor, during special tests here.

The test, which was made between London and Glasgow eclipsed the 200 mile test carried out in the United States in April between New York and Washington, and was staged as a prelude to be a more ambitious experiment to be made shortly in seeing across the Atlantic between London and New [illegible]

[illegible]s test embodied many technical improvements in the science of television, including a more rapidly obtained synchronization between transmitter and receiver.

Use Telephone Lines.

Two ordinary postal telephones lines were used. Over one a conversation was carried on, while over the other was sent the television transmission. Baird's perfected receiver was so compact that it stood on an ordinary table in the receiving room at Glasgow. Distinct images were observed and each movement of the "sitter's" head and shoulders was seen.

"The technical improvements I have now effected" said Baird after the tests, "makes it mainly a question of greater power to be able to see a person or a scene which is thousands of miles distant.

Coming to America.

"Shortly some of my experts leave England for the United States to arrange for a demonstration of seeing, as well as of hearing, across more than three-thousand miles of ocean between London and New York. Transmission will be by radio and not by cable."

The first six Baird "televisors" which are intended for ordinary use are now in construction. Experiment transmissions in the form of a first regular television transmission program will be radioed from a special station. At present only a comparatively small image is transmitted, but bigger pictures are stated to be only a question of technical development.

QUAIL HIT WINDSHIELD CAUSING AUTOIST TO WRECK, KILLING TWO

GREENVILLE, O., June 13.—Two quail flew in front of an automobile, struck the windshield and caused an automobile accident near here Sunday which resulted in the death of two boys.

Walter Poe, 16, was killed instantly, Joseph Strobel, 19, was fatally injured and Harold Folkerth, 17, was seriously hurt in the accident.

Folkerth, who was driving, became frightened and lost control of the machine when the two birds flew up from the side of the road. As the machine swerved to the side of the road one of the boys caught at the steering wheel, causing the car to turn sharply and roll over.

Some pedestrians get a kick out of the fact that a lot of motorists always look mad at the traffic lights.—The Des Moines Sunday Register.

Pittsburgh Hopes To Be Plane Building Centre

By CARL L. TURNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, June 13.—The "Steel City" would like to become the Detroit of the airplane manufacturing industry.

Since the epochal trans-Atlantic flight of Capt. Charles E. Lindbergh and its sequel, the Chamberlin-Levine New York to Germany hop, civic leaders here have awakened to the possibilities of aviation.

They point out that Pittsburgh has the iron and coal necessary to airplane construction; it has one of the country's greatest aluminum plants near at hand and plenty of capital to bring the seat of the new industry here, if some city with better inducements doesn't get it first.

Topography of land in and near Pittsburgh is anything but suitable for first-class landing fields, it is admitted. Hills and valleys which from the air are deceiving to many pilots will not help bring the new industry to the junction of the Allegheny and Monongahela.

Rumor persists, despite frequent and emphatic denials, that the Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest bituminous mining firm in the world, is to pass into the hands of new owners before long.

Virtually every large industrial concern using coal in great quantities has been mentioned as a prospective and possible purchaser. These include the United States Steel Corporation, the Van Sweringens of Cleveland and Koppers Co., by-product coke oven builders.

The Pittsburgh Coal Company owns leases on well over 100,000 acres of rich coal lands in western Pennsylvania. Many of its mines are not being worked because of labor difficulties. It has renounced the union and is endeavoring to operate at a profit with non-union miners.

Followers of the steel industry would not be surprised to find the U. S. Steel Corporation eventually come into control of part, if not all, of the company's holdings.

Athletic Contests To Be Staged At Cascade Park Tuesday

Fishing rods, baseballs, flashlights, gymnasium suits, scout knives, gymnasium shoes, bathing caps and candy will be a few of the prizes to be awarded to the winners of athletic events to be staged in connection with Kiddies' Day at Cascade Park Tuesday.

As a result scores of small boys and girls today will continue to practice dashes, broad jumps, walking, three-legged races and will await the penny and candy scramble which is to be staged under the auspices of park officials. The events will start at one p. m.

All of the concessionaires at the recretation center have entered into the affair and have slashed prices to the bone and the boys and girls will have plenty of fun from early morning until six o'clock, when the picnic will close.

A few of the three-cent rides are the whip, caterpillar, seaplane, old mill, mix-up, ponies, miniature railroad, airplane, ferris wheel, Custer car, brownie coaster and launch, while five cents will give them a ride on the dodge 'em, tumble-bug and laugh in the dark.

Manager Carl Shaner today stated that a Red Cross nurse will be at the hut and the police department of Cascade Park will take good care of the children. Should any become lost in the big ground they will be taken to the main office until their parents arrive.

Kiddies' Day is an annual event and is always staged immediately following the close of the school term. As a result many teachers of the public school system will be present with their proteges Tuesday and a big time is in prospect for thousands.

Police Surround Building But Suspects Escape

Shortly after ten o'clock Saturday night, the police department was advised over the telephone by a woman, that she had seen two men go up the fire escape of the Johnson building, Neshannock avenue and Washington street, try the windows on the third and fourth floors and finally gain admittance through a fourth floor window.

Six officers were soon stationed about the building, guarding every exit or point of egress. A prominent representative of the Johnson Limestone company interests was notified and hurried to the scene and made it possible for the officers to make a thorough inspection of the building.

Every part of the building was inspected and not a person was found in the building or any evidence of theft. That some person had possibly entered the building was evidenced by the fact that a fourth floor window through which it was possible to get into the building from the fire escape was open. How the persons entering the building managed to escape before being apprehended by the police is a mystery.

Many Complaints Made To Police About Celebrators

The summer season and especially the Fourth of July part of it is on in full force. This being evidenced by the numerous complaints registered from all parts of the city on Sunday by persons claiming that their districts are being disturbed by boys prematurely observing the fourth or playing baseball.

Fireworks are banned in this city until the actual Fourth of July season. This is also true of their sale as far as children under certain ages are concerned.

BADLY BURNED WHEN STILL CATCHES FIRE

FARRELL, Pa., June 13.—Samuel Markus, 120 Spearman avenue, was probably fatally burned last evening when his clothes became saturated with alcohol and caught fire. Markus, his clothes ablaze, rushed from the house into the street, where friends extinguished the flames. He was taken to Buhl hospital, where physicians say he cannot recover.

Officials found a still and a large quantity of mash in the house, which was slightly damaged.

Nineteen Hurt In Bus Crash

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—Nineteen persons were injured today when a Philadelphia-bound bus collided with a number of machines in trying to avoid a collision with a taxicab on the Delaware River Bridge. The bus skidded and slid into a long line of about 75 cars, shaking up scores of persons. Six machines were damaged badly, one car bursting into flames.

John Bryan, bus driver, of this city, was arrested on a reckless driving charge.

SENT TO POORHOUSE MAN FINDS MATE HE DESERTED 56 YEARS AGO

LANCASTER, O., June 13.—Charles Trotter, 76, traveled "over the hill to the poorhouse" here yesterday and at the door of the institution met his wife, Bertha, 73, whom he deserted 56 years ago.

The woman, who says he deserted her as a child wife, has been an inmate of the institution since 1871, when she became ill from worry over her abandonment and the death of her infant child.

His bride of more than half a century ago recognized him. When asked by the matron if she still cared for him she replied, "No, he left me when I needed him the most—he need not have returned".

YOUTH DEAD, THREE BURNED SERIOUSLY IN GAS WELL FIRE

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 13.—William R. Wells, 18, of Waynesburg was burned to death when gas from a new well near Nineveh caught fire. Three others were burned seriously. They were: William Wells Sr., 45, father of the dead boy; M. L. Black, 59, of New Martinsville, W. Va., and Ward Lowe, 23, of near Nineveh.

The accident occurred on the Alfred Rutan farm two miles from Nineveh in Greene county. The four men were standing near the well when gas began to flow. It ignited and before the men could flee to safety they were enveloped by the flames.

When a man isn't sure of himself, nobody else is.

Col. Lindbergh Arises Early

Lone Eagle Makes Preparations Bright And Early For Departure

STRENUOUS SUNDAY SPENT BY LINDY

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, was up bright and early today for his leave-taking of the capital and his triumphal entry into New York.

While deeply appreciative of the unprecedented honors that have been heaped upon him in Washington—a reception such as never before accorded an individual, medals and decorations, a colonelcy in the Reserve Corps and gifts of all descriptions, the younthful flyer appeared anxious to be on his way.

His Washington program was strenuous, so much so, in fact, that the last engagement on his Sunday program was dispensed with. He was due to appear last night at a reception tendered by the Missouri State society but he did not appear and hundreds of people were disappointed. Prior to that he had attended church in the morning with his hosts, the President and Mrs. Coolidge, placed a wreath on the unknown soldier's tomb at Arlington, visited the wounded war veterans at Walter Reed hospital, inspected his plane at the naval flying field, attended flag services at the capitol, and in between times shook numerous hands. It was a rather full day.

Col. Lindbergh was to have gone to the Naval flying field at Anacostia early this morning to inspect his plane, but either he overslept or he received assuring word from the field that the ship was all right for he did not appear at the field. He went straight from the White House in Dupont Circle to the Mayflower hotel to attend the breakfast given in his honor by the National Aeronautical association at 7 a. m.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

SEEKS SISTERS.

Cleveland, O., June 12, 1927.

City Editor,
New Castle, Pa.

Kind Sir: I am writing to you, probably you can in some way aid me in locating my two sisters whom I have been separated from since a child five years old. One's name is Garnet Wolford aged about 23 and Marjory, about 28 years of age. I have no idea how to go about finding them so maybe you could give me information in regard to the matter.

Our mother died and I was placed in a home, I think under the care of a man named Mr. Permar or Penmar. I just have a vague recollection. If there has to be an article printed in your local papers, I would just want it in the New Castle paper. I have been adopted and am living here in Cleveland since I was taken from New Castle 20 years ago. If there is any expense I will be more than glad to pay in order to communicate with some one who has information of my sisters. Sincerely,

MRS. BEULAH WOLFORD,

Around State Capitol; Some Of Activities

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 13. — Publishing of the official figures of the Highway Department on contemplated expenditures and construction has helped to clear up the cloud of charges and counter charges which darkened the entire subject during the last session of the legislature. Much of the opposition to the three cent gasoline tax came from those high in the State service. The speech of State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis in Uniontown some time ago defended his own position at the time, although he did not oppose the added tax when the majority of the state administration seemed to favor it.

Although several weeks old, echoes and whispers concerning that same speech still wander about for discussion when there are not too many listeners. Lewis was 100 per cent for the regular Republican ticket during the primary and election campaigns. Recent developments indicate that, if necessary, he is willing to stand on his own feet on any public issue. Coming so soon during the present administration there is much speculation regarding what his future course is to be.

Failure of former Governor Gifford Pinchot to appear more often at the Capitol already is the subject of comment. The fact that he retained on his staff an experienced Philadelphia newspaperman was taken as a pretty good indication that he intended to mix in State affairs. Since his participation in the clean election fight, Harrisburg has heard but little of the man who once seemed to have the secret of "making" the first pages of Pennsylvania's newspapers almost daily.

Few persons not in daily touch with the workings of the State administration realize the amount of time and thought given to the selection of the boards of trustees of the various State institutions. Governor Fisher started work on the lists immediately after he finished with the mass of bills left by the legislature. Since that time selection of trustees has been a daily diet at his office and some of the most prominent persons in the state have demanded to have their say in the appointments. Trustees do not receive even the war famous "dollar-a-year" for their services.

Since the increased appropriation to the Department of Internal Affairs has become available there are a good many signs of increased activity there. Pinchot's attacks on the department and his frequent charge that it served but litle public good, together with heavy slashes in the biennial appropriations, resulted in considerable curtailment of activity. James F. Woodward, the secretary, who weathered the Pinchot storm asserts now that the department will be raised to the highest standard of efficiency.

Those in touch with the State Board of Pardons watch with a good bit of interest the action of the new boards during the first few months. Indication of leniency always increases the number of pardons as time goes on. The opposite sort of action results in a decrease. During the first two sessions the ratio of those granted and refused was about the average of other boards. Refusals of pardons and pleas for rehearings established a record for the May session. The board, however, was unusually late in making public its decisions and a heavy June calendar is expected.

It is coming to be a practice with some clubs when they fail to beat the opposing team to turn about and beat the umpire.—The Long Beach Press-Telegram.

"Hang Your Clothes On A Hickory Limb" Is Barred In Italy

ROME, June 13.—A code of morality for bathers has been crafted by the diocesan morality committee of the province of Genoa. Copies have been sent to the municipal authorities for their guidance during the present season.

Tmong the commandments in the code is an order against bathing without clothing even in secluded spots. Other "dont's" forbid flirting, wearing abreviated bathing suits, using profane or obscene language, reading obscene, frivolous or vulgar newspapers, magazines or books: dancing and leaving the beach attired in a bathing suit or beach wrap.

Local Girl Receives Degree At Ohio State

Among the graduates at the Ohio State University who shall receive their degrees Tuesday, June 14, is Esther Anne Levine of New Castle who is a candidate for a degree in social administration.

A class of approximately 1100 students will graduate at the 50th annual commencement. The exercises will be held in the coliseum at the state fair grounds for want of a building, on the campus large enough to hold the class and members of the graduates' families and friends.

The commencement season opened Saturday, June 11 with Alumni day. The baccalaureate exercises were held on Sunday with Dr. Joseph Alexander Leighton, head of the department of philosophy, as the chief speaker.

Class day exercises are held today. Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Pittsburgh will give the commencement address tomorrow.

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more Vitamines than any food you can get.

You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of solid healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong, ask any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back your money.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 10 pounds in 30 days.

Mothers Demand Swift Justice For Murderers

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 13.—The mothers of Edith Fonzo and Jennie Monica, Wilkes-Barre shopgirls who were attacked near Pittston recently and murdered, will demand swift punishment of the slayers, the two grief-stricken women indicated here after a visit to the lonely field where the two bodies were found.

The mothers visited the scene of the murders to see for themselves how the hunt for the slayers is progressing. They were shown the spot where the automobile in which the girls were brought to the field was wrecked, and talked together for several minutes.

The two mothers were greatly disturbed by a crowd of morbidly curious, and shortly after their visit a brother and sister of Jennie came to the murder scene, dug up the blood-soaked ground where the two bodies had lain and took it in a bag to be placed on the two girls' graves.

MENU HINT

Pineapple and strawberries being at their best, it is well to include them in the day's menus. The following breakfast menu might easily serve as a luncheon. Spoon bread is very good and the creamed ham will use up the remnants of the ham that you served at dinner the day before.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Spoon Bread—One-fourth cup of white cornmeal, two cups milk, two tablespoons, butter, one tablespoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two eggs, beaten separately. Cook cornmeal and milk together in double boiler until mixture thickens. Add butter, sugar and salt. Beat egg yolks slightly and beat into them some of the hot mixture. Add this to rest of mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites and bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes.

Southern Spoon Corn Bread — Two cups white cornmeal, two and one-half cups boiling water, one and one-half tablespoons melted butter, one teaspoon salt, two eggs, separate one and one half cups buttermilk, one teaspoon soda. Add cornmeal gradually to boiling water and let stand until cool. Then add butter, salt, egg yolks, slightly beaten, and buttermilk mixed with soda. Beat two minutes and add whites of eggs, beaten until stiff. Turn into a buttered pudding dish and bake in a hot oven forty minutes.

The trouble with a bigamist is that he loves not wisely but two well.

Commission On Shade Trees To Be Appointed

Council To Take Action To Meet Tree Trimming Situation Here

Council has instructed City Solicitor Robert White to prepare an ordinance authorizing the appointment of a shade tree commission and which will go far toward alleviating the tree question in the city of New Castle.

The ordinance will provide for the appointment of a tree warden who will have charge of all trimming. The cost of the trimming will be paid by the property-owner. The tree warden will receive a rate of one dollar an hour.

Solicitor White today explained that he does not believe now that the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company is responsible for mutilation of trees and said that it is his belief that the company is trying to clear wires and is bearing the cost.

According to Louis Round, local manager of the company, the firm of Nelson & Kuemmerling, tree experts, Canton, Ohio, are doing their work and the latter today invited the inspection of any other firm of tree experts to inspect their work.

The explanation of White, statement of Round and the tree wardens today followed, as a result of a charge expressed several days ago that trees here are being "mutilated and beheaded." Today no one apparently could name the company in charge of the work.

When the ordinance is written by White a member of council will introduce the bill and it will be passed. Within 10 days after a final vote it will become law and the shade tree commission and the tree warden will become a reality in this city.

Scout Camporee Held Friday And Saturday

Lawrence County Boy Scouts Hold Camporee At Camp Phillips; Program

Scout Camporee held on Friday and Saturday at Camp John M. Phillips by the Lawrence county Boy Scouts was one of the most successful events ever attempted by the Scouts of Lawrence county. Over a hundred boys participated in this camporee meet and some very keen rivalry was developed.

A great many changes were made this year that had never been used before and the result was that a great many of the Scouts were taken unawares. The patrol winning first place this year which will get the Dr. Rosenthal silver loving cup and which will represent the Lawrence county council at the western Pennsylvania meet for the championship of Pennsylvania at Greensburg on the 17th and 18th of June, goes to the Seal patrol of the New Bedford troop 1. The patrol consisted of the following boys: Theodore Ropp, patrol leader; Kermit Edgar, Melvin Moorhouse, Wylie Wallace, Frank Preu, Donald Eppinger, Ralph Boyd and Herbert Boyd. The patrol won with 950 points out of a possible 1,000 points.

Second place was won by the First Christian church, troop 15 Pine Tree Patrol, with 945 points. Other patrols came in with honors as follows: Rotary troop 1, Panther Patrol, New Castle, 925 points; Lions troop 13, Lions patrol, 896 points; Rotary troop 8, Ellwood City, Eagle Patrol, 887 points; Shelby troop 7, Ellwood City; Fox Patrol, 843 points; Kiwanis troop 4, New Castle, Alligator patrol, 838 points; Ewing Park troop 1, Ellwood City, Flying Eagle patrol, 815 points; Highland U. P. church troop 18, Highland patrol, 806 points; American Legion troop 10, Ellwood City, Eagle patrol, 761 points; Kiwanis troop 11, Ellwood City, Wild Cat patrol, 590 points; Third U. P. church troop 19, Pine Tree patrol, 494 points; the American Legion troop, Ellwood City, the Kiwanis troop, Ellwood City and the Third U. P. church troop of New Castle are all new troops and under the circumstances made a wonderful showing.

Scout Executive Calahan was particularly proud of the boys who entered this contest knowing they could not win, but yet were willing to try and to learn. Some of the older troops had better watch these younger fellows next year.

There has never been a meet held under the auspices of any council where the boys had to face such tremendous difficulties and overcome them as was experienced at camp Friday evening. Just as the tents were erected, before they had time to be properly ditched, a tremendous rainstorm and wind came up. The boys knew how to take care of their blankets and foodstuffs and consequently they came through with dry bedding and dry food. Fifteen minutes after the rain stopped a great many of the patrols had the cooking fires going and supper started. This was a very trying circumstance, using wet wood on wet ground.

The winning patrol from New Bedford should be congratulated on the fine showing they made, as they were up against stiff competition. The First Christian church troop 15 of New Castle was a close second. If the entire patrol had been in uniform it is possible that they would have won. A very difficult problem was given the boys this year, which was new and unlooked for, which was the reason for the older patrols falling down.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

GOING DOWN!

Wriggle, dig, scratch, spatter! Peter, who was now but the size of the Mole himself, was able to get a "close-up" view of what Matty was doing. He had thought that the fellow dug himself into the ground with his claws, but now he saw that his friend was using his long nose as his spade. Suddenly the Boy laughed out loud.

"Ha, ha, ha! I do wish our black pig could see you! You would make him so jealous. He roots in the ground with his nose just like you do, but he never gets anywhere—just tears up the surface a little. But you—why, you have actually hollowed out a trench almost the size of your own body, and you haven't used your claws yet. When are you going to?"

"Right this very minute", mumbled the Mole, his voice half smothered. And, sure enough, as he spoke he set to work with his funny five-fingered hands. Then how the dirt did fly, and the Boy, standing close by, gave a cry of dismay.

"You don't have to make such a fuss as that, Mole, do you? You have thrown two handfuls over me already! Ouch! Now you have nearly put out my eye with a pebble. Let me get out of your way. Where shall I stand?"

"Get behind me in the trench and don't stand at all. Keep moving and follow me. I am sinking a tunnel, and unless I am very much mistaken soon I shall strike into the highroad that leads to my fortress. These surface trenches do not amount to much. No miner ever spends much time making them, and the earth is likely to cave in behind us at any time. Once you became separated from me I shouldn't have time to dig back for you, you know. Aha! I thought so. My nose knows that we are going in the right direction. Slimy nails! What is the matter? Why are you gasping like that?"

Mole had been digging for only a very short time, but already he and the Boy, who had followed his directions and stayed close behind him, were some distance down, and with the Mole's last words a bit of the carelessly tossed earth came tumbling and closed up the entrance to the tunnel. Now it was almost dark.

"It is getting so close in here I can scarcely breathe", murmured the Boy. "I don't see how you stand it underground day after day, night after night. I should think you would smother. I am sure I shall. Oh, I must get out of here! I feel as if there was a ton of dirt on my chest. How damp and how gloomy it is, too! I don't like it one bit. Oh, but I wish I had never come! Tell me, Matty, shall I ever get out of here alive? If only I thought I could shove my way back to the surface I believe I should start up at once."

"You are frightened, that is what is the matter with you", declared the Mole. "You needn't worry, though. If you do as I say nothing will happen to you. This is the worst—soon we will come to the Broad Highway. Here it is narrow, but there there is plenty of room for two Moles to pass. Keep up your courage and you will enjoy the sights of Moleland. As for your return journey—you'll not mind that at all. You'll come back on a beaten track. Everyone gets cold feet when he comes underground for the first time, but it will not be long before you get used to the damp and the dark."

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS MASSILLON AGATHONS 6 - 0

McCoy Features With Home Run

Manager "Molly" Meis Allows Massillon But One Hit In Fast Game

LOCALS CONTINUE HITTING STREAK

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Undismayed at the fine record established by the Massillon Agathons this year, the New Castle O & P league team on Saturday afternoon at Centennial field demonstrated the gentle art of swatting the stitched horsehide to all corners of the orchard, and as a consequence the visitors were blanked 6 to 0. The game was Replete with thrills of various natures.

Meis-McCoy Stars

Two New Castleites shared honors in the white-washing method applied to the Agathons. Manager "Molly" Meis ascended to the mound and hurled a brilliant game, limiting the visitors to a solitary swat, and coming within an ace of turning in a perfect no-run no-hit game. Graham's single to left field in the second chapter spoiled an otherwise iron-man stunt. McCoy the hard hitting New Castle first-baseman grabbed himself a lot of glory in the fourth inning, when he lified one of the fast slants served by Brindza gracefully over the left field barrier. It was the first home run of the year at the local ball park, and the fans gave the new first baseman a genuine ovation. Two New Castle players rode home ahead of McCoy.

George Textor manager of the Agathons elected Brindza former Kansas City American Association hurler to pitch, and in his former starts the youth with the queer name has set the O. & P. league teams back with very few hits. Brindza's latest achievement was a 7-2 victory over the Homestead Grays, and he limited the hard slugging Grays to four hits. Saturday, he faced a ball team that has learned to fear no pitcher. New Castle pounded everything that Brindza threw over the plate, with the exception of a few mean glances, and it looked very much as if Mr. Brindza was due to take an early shower bath, but for some unknown reason Textor left him in the box to suffer defeat.

On the other hand Meis was harder to solve than a cross-word puzzle, and the visitors confined their exercise to the vicinity of first and second base. Not one visiting player advanced beyond second-base during the struggle. Only about five Massillon players were fortunate enough to get to first base. Meis had the upper-hand all the way, he fanned two of the opposing batsmen, and walked two men. Brindza fanned one man and issued five free tickets to the initial sack.

Locals Field Well

New Castle afforded Meis excellent support. There were two fozzles credited the New Castle contingent, and Manager Meis had them both, they were both easy grounders that the local pitcher and manager failed to field properly, incidently Meis tossed out six runners at first.

The locals pounced on Brindza in the first chapter for a lone run, Lawrence the first batter drew a walk, Flynn singled, McCoy singled, McCullough advanced the runners on a tap to Brindza. General singled to left field and Lawrence tallied, but General was out at second trying to stretch his hit into a double. New Castle jammed the bases in the second inning with runners, on two walks and a single, but failed to score. Two singles by General and Brehanney in the third inning failed to produce a tally. Brindza worked himself out of a "bad hole" in both the second and third frames.

McCoy Crashes Homer

Things happened rapidly in the fourth inning. It was the same old story, Brindza got himself into trouble right at the start. Bryan was thrown out by Messener, Meis singled to left field, Lawrence singled to left and Meis went to second, Flynn drove a long fly to Graham for a put out, McCoy with the count three and two, poled fast fushoot over the left field wall and Meis and Lawrence cantered home with McCoy jogging around the bases. The ball sailed over the fence and was fair by several feet. Pandemonium broke loose in the stands as McCoy trotted around the bases. McCullough ended the inning by being thrown out by Messener.

Brindza seemed to gain control of himself in the next two innings, Byak and Bryan scratched singles, but New Castle failed to score. In the seventh an error by Brindza a single by Brehanney, a base on balls, and a hard hit grounder by Bryan produced another tally for the locals. New Castle scored their final run in the eighth chapter on a walk and an error by Messener.

Only thirty-two Massillon players faced Meis in the nine sessions, and only on five occasions did the visitors go to bat more than three times in one inning. A fast double play Meis to Lawrence to McCoy in the sixth inning saved the locals, after Meis had "gummed up" a grounder from Hogan.

Locals Hit Timely

Hitting honors went to McCoy with a single and home run, also to General Brehanney and Meis with two hits apiece. Lawrence at second base fielded his position in fine style and handled eight chances without an error. McCullough played his customary fine game at third. Byak took care of the leftfield pasture in great manner and General turned in a couple of fine catches in middlefield.

It was the fourth league victory of the year for the locals and the third straight victory in the last three-starts, Canton, and Erie having fallen victims to the locals in recent games.

Golf Tourney At Oakmont Starts

100 Of Best Golfers In America And Great Britain Start Play For Open Title

(International News Service)

OAKMONT, Pa., June 13.—The stage was set today for the season's premier golf classic which will find Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, defending his National Open Championship crown against a field of 150 of the best golfers America and Great Britain has produced.

Cyril Walker was the only National Open Champion in the last ten years whose name did not grace the roll of entrants for the tournament getting under way tomorrow over what all experts agree is one of the hardest courses in the country.

The champion and Watts Gunn youthful Atlantan and protege of Jones announced their intention of going around the course once more today to become thoroughly familiar with it. Jones and Gunn won over Gene Sarazen, former national champion and Emil Loeffler, Oakmont greenskeeper, in a practice foursome yesterday. They played 18 holes.

Most of the experts favored Bobby Jones to emerge victorious again. It was pointed out that since the Atlantan won the crown at Columbia last year he has been taking his golf as he saw fit and at his own pace, while most of the leading contenders have had little rest in the last twelve months, jumping from one tournament to another.

Great Britain sent seven contenders—Ted Ray, George Duncan, A. D. Whitcomb, Herbert Jolly, Aubrey Boomer, Arthur Havers and George Gadd. Jolly held the place left vacant when the veteran Abe Mitchell became ill and could not make the trip here.

Promptly at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning the first 75 pairs will tee off for the 18-hole route.

It is much more difficult to get around the world than to get around its laws.

It is always that way. The finer their home, the more they stay away from it.

Athletic Teams At Senior High Lose Many Stars

Graduation Depletes Ranks Of Athletic Teams At Senior High School

FOOTBALL TEAM IS HEAVY LOSER

The Senior High school loses many of its stars in the athletic realm this year. Thursday night's commencement exercises took a heavy toll.

Each year the "diploma handout" takes from the various teams of the school. Yet the next year finds the coaches well prepared to form new aggregations.

Although the loss this year is no greater than several previous years, it is keenly felt by the tutors of athletes.

From this year's varsity football team the following members will be sadly missed: Captain Harry Robinson, George (Peg) Thomas, Wallace Mott, Robert Millison, Walter McGrath, Philip Dickson, Clarence Klaber, Jack Christman, William Kirk and Mike DiThomas.

From next year's varsity basketball aggregation, the following will be absent: Captain Clarence Klaber, acting captain, Walter McGrath, Bruce Franklin and James Blanning.

From the varsity track team, the following: Bruce Franklin, Alfred L. Hoffmaster, Walter McGrath, Arthur Mackey, Wallace Mott, George (Peg) Thomas and James Brenner.

The following will be missed also: The entire senior boys basketball team which was composed of: Jack Christman, James Douglas, Mike DiThomas, George Marquis, James Brenner, William Kirk, William Davids, Richard Bartley, Richard Marquis, Leonard Smith, Fred Valle, George Sergeant, Glenn Nicholson, Edward Raney and George Kline.

The entire girls senior basketball team will be missed next year, too. It was composed of the following: Grace Sankey, Nellie Bogdon, Margaret Warner, Louise Lachner, Twila Kaufman, Mary Elizabeth Johnson, Juliana Mackey, Mary Catherine Nealis, Frances Zuchowski, Anna Ward, Dorothy Smith, Mildred Houk, Anna Mae Hamilton, Madeline Frye, Ruth Rodgers, Theresa Mariana, Blanche Ford, Alice Marie Braatz, Lois Needler and Ruth Kelly.

Four berths on the girls varsity basketball team must be filled next years, also. The four seniors on the team this year are as follows: Gertrude Wolf, Ilona Patterson, Alene Kerr and Twila Kaufman.

Church Games For Tonight

Two good games are on tap for the followers of the New Castle Church League for tonight. The games will start at 6:30 o'clock daylight savings time.

The Epworth M. E. boys will tangle with the Croton team at the Colonial field and the Third U. P. and Central Presbyterians will play at Lehigh field.

The Dominating Figure — By Feg Murray

If Bobby Jones had only shot his last round in the 1920 United States open golf championship at Inverness in 72 strokes—a figure he has beaten hundreds of times—he would have won the first open championship in which he ever played! But he took a 77 and so tied for eighth place with a score of 299, four strokes back of the leader, "Big Ted" Ray of England. And, it is interesting to note, the man Bobby tied with was Willie Macfarlane, who beat him for the same title after a double play-off five years later.

The present champion's supremacy in this tournament which gets under way tomorrow at the Oakmont Country Club, is so pronounced, that his performances year after year make up one of the outstanding feats in all golf history. Bobby not only is many strokes lower in the aggregate than any other player, but his record of never finishing worse than second in the last five tournaments is also a mark for future generations to shoot at—and remember that Bobby has years and years of competitive golf left in his system. Bobby's first two open championships were held when he was only eighteen and nineteen years old, and, he says in his interesting autobiography in a weekly magazine, he was, in those days, "so full of pie and ice cream and inexperience" that it was really very much to his credit to finish as the second leading amateur.

Bobby Jones' victory in last year's open tournament at Scioto was probably the most satisfying of all to him, as no mortal had ever before held three or four major championships of golf, including the open title of Great Britain and America. Bobby's whirlwind finish, wherein he overcame a lead of four strokes with only seven holes to play, was one of the most thrilling dramas in the history of the Scotch pastime.

Here is how Bobby has averaged less than 74 strokes per round for twenty-eight rounds in the U. S. Open play:

1920, Inverness, 78, 74,70,77—299.

1921, Columbia, 78, 71, 77, 77—303.

1922, Skokie, 74, 72, 70, 73—289

1923, Inwood, 71, 73, 76, 76—296.

1924 Oakland Hills, 74, 73, 75, 78—300

1925, Worcester, 77, 70, 70, 74—291.

1926, Scioto, 70, 79, 71, 73—293

Feg Murray Says—

Jack Sharkey, of Boston, the loquacious Lithuanian prize-fighter, might well be called a chatter-boxer.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The current investigation of the wrestling trust in Chicago reveals the interesting fact that the "rasslers" haven't changed their spots. Operating under the cover of legalized control of late years the sport has been just as rotten as it was when it died in its own odor 20 years ago.

The only satisfaction Chicago and Illinois wrestling addicts may find in the present denouement is the fact that they are not alone victims of the only game that is surer—for the promoters—than the shell game.

The revelations of Bill Demetral are interesting. And there are so many persons in this fair land who know his accusations to be true, that there is no hope of discrediting his statements.

The few wrestlers who start into the game with good intentions, find themselves forced to fall into the "frame-up" game or quit for lack of employment.

The ease with which the matmen, managers and promoters slip it over earuest but poorly chosen commissions and other authorities is shown by Demetral's testimony under oath that had to sign away his home and bank roll to get two matches in Cleveland three years ago.

Boxing and wrestling in Cleveland are controlled by a city commission which is ostensibly at least has czaristic authority over the situation. They approve promoters, managers, participants, contracts and seat prices. They accept, for the city, an important split in the profits.

And yet, if Demetral's testimony is to be accepted, they were like lambs before the wolves of the mat game.

Chicago has enjoyed legalized boxing and wrestling but a short time. The first important boxing match brought insinuations and innuendos. Championships changed hands in startling fashion.

And to show how gullible and easy are most of the officials concerned in the conduct of the two games it should be pointed out that these intimations of "queer" happenings handicapped the participants in other cities.

As I see it, the only improvement in either game in the last 20 years is the finesse most managers and promoters use in slipping it over the public.

Tome was when the promoters and managers framed their matches and then simply announced the place and date of the match. Now the matter of signing contracts, posting forfeits for appearance, weighing in, etc., are given much attention.

And judging from the recent expose in Chicago, this is done usually with the one idea—or roping the public.

New Castle To Play Homestead Grays Here On Wednesday Night

Strong Homestead Gray Outfit To Battle New Castle Wednesday

Jamieson Or Meis Will Pitch Against Grays, It Is Indicated

The Homestead Grays will be the attraction at Centennial field on Wednesday night, it was announced today by the directors of the New Castle O. and P. league team. The game will start at 6:15 o'clock, daylight savings time. It will mark the second appearance of the Grays in this city.

The locals in the midst of a fine stride hope to defeat the "Cum" Posey aggregation. The Grays recently lost to the Massillon Agathons 7 to 2 in a game played at Massillon. Brindza the youthful pitcher who was pounded hard by the New Castle boys Saturday, hurled against the Grays.

New Castle is playing a snappy brand of ball at the present time and the team is regaining their batting lamps. New Castle has done more hitting in the past three games than they have in all of the previous affairs this year. The acquisition of McCoy, the hard hitting first baseman gives the locals extra strength in the clouting department.

It is hoped that Maxim will have recovered in time to appear in the game here on Wednesday. Maxim has been laid up for several days with a boil on his right hand.

The game Wednesday is the only attraction here this week. On Saturday afternoon the locals will hop to Butler for a league battle.

AMATEUR NOTES

The North Highland team defeated the West Pittsburg Blues 9 to 6 in a game played at the West Pittsburg field. P. Houston on the hill for the winners allowed but five hits.

Dewberry's defeated the Blue Racers 8 to 2 in a game played at the Scotland Lane grounds. The Dewberry team gained their victory in the last four innings by bunching hits off Lewis.

The Sharon Eagles defeated the North Street Hi-Y team 13 to 12 in a game played at Sharon. The game was a free hitting affair. The Sharonites gained a big lead in the first three innings. A belated rally by the locals in the final chapter was halted before enough damage was done.

The St. Phillips and St. James team defeated the Boro A. C. team 10 to 9 in a game played at the boro field. The game was a pitchers battle between Ciotto and Duncan with the former having the best of the argument.

A strike followed when pebbles were found in the bean soup at Sing Sing. Convicts, seeking for beans in the bean soup at Sing Sing certainly haven't lost their optimism, anyhow.

Bessemer Wins From Indie-Ayes

Kirker Relieves Miller, But Latter Gets Credit For Victory

Bessemer continues to lead the Lawrence County loop, having defeated the Independent Athletic Association, six to four, Saturday at Bessemer.

Miller started for Bessemer against Pannella, but gave way to Kirker, but receives credit for the victory as Bessemer was in the lead when Kirker assumed Miller's place.

Only one extra base hit was marked up, Mash having turned out the two-base blow. Bessemer's ability to take advantage of the breaks gave them the edge and sewed up the game in the eighth.

Weird Exhibition At Croton Field Saturday Goes To Ellwood City Team

Ellwood City defeated Croton Saturday afternoon at the Croton field, by a score of 17 to 10. The game was one of the weirdest exhibitions staged in the County league this year. Both teams turned in plenty of slugging.

Ellwood City opened the first chapter with a four run lead, and Croton came back in their half of the first with six runs to take the play away from Ellwood. Ellwood counted four more runs in the fifth inning, and Croton tallied another pair of runs, deadlocking the count at 8-8. The "Tube" boys scored nine more runs in the last four innings, and held Croton to another pair of markers.

Dodgers Win From Pirates

Brooklyn Scores Second Victory Over League Leaders

BROOKLYN, June 13. — The Pittsburgh Pirates made a one-day visit to the City of churches and were sent back to Pittsburgh a defeated aggregation of ball players, the Dodgers having administered a one run defeat, 11 to 10.

It was the second defeat the Dodgers handed to the Pirates and yesterday's game was won in the closing innings in a good old-fashioned hitting spree which let five runs race across the home plate in the closing sessions.

Vic Aldridge and Nichols were the hurlers that tried to spike the Dodgers guns while Elliott, Ehrhardt, Petty and Plitt occupied the mound for the Dodgers. The Dodgers got 15 hits and the Pirates rapped out 12 safe blows.

Local Boys Journey To Washington, D. C.

Russell McCormick And Socrates Manos Attend Lindbergh Reception In Capitol

Russell McCormick and Socrates Manor, both of Park avenue, returned this morning from a trip to Washington, D. C., where they witnessed the Lindbergh reception there.

The two boys left New Castle early Thursday morning, June 9. The entire trip was made by the "thumb jerking" method, in other words "bumming" rides. They arrived in Washington at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning and were on hand when "Lucky Lindy" landed. Both were present throughout the exercises of the day, hearing both Lindbergh and President Coolidge give their addresses.

In telling of their trip the hikers state "the place was sure packed and of all the thousands we saw there we knew only two, "Cal" and "Lindy", they were not personal friends. We did not see a person from New Castle, just the same we had a fine time.

Leaving Washington at 9 o'clock Saturday evening the boys arrived in New Castle at 8 o'clock this morning.

Giants And Braves Consumate Trade

McQuillan, Greenfield And Farrell Go To Boston Braves In Big Deal

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 13.—Jim Tierney, secretary of the New York Giants, announced today that a trade involving three McGraw men and a like number of Boston Braves had been consumated yesterday at Cincinnati.

According to Tierney, the Giants will exchange pitchers McQuillan and Greenfield and infielder Farrell, for pitcher Benton, catcher Taylor and infielder Thomas of the Braves.

Farrell is the former star athlete of the University of Pennsylvania. It is understood the players will report to their new assignments at once.

New Castle Hears Reception Reports On Radio Clearly

New Castle residents, having radios, heard the celebration in honor of the home-coming of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, at Washington, D. C., splendidly.

The music and speeches came in clearly. President Coolidge's address came out of the loudspeakers unmarred by static or other noises. Lindbergh's acceptance of the Distinguished Flying Cross also came in fine.

The citizens of this city benefitted from one of the greatest hookups ever attempted. Some 50 stations were combined so as to send clearly over this country and other countries, the great celebration that was held in the nation's capitol.

Several announcers were at various viewpoints along the route of the parade, others were around the platform, on which the distinguished hero and president sat, several were up about 504 feet in the Washington monument, reporting everything they could see.

It is estimated that about one-third of the nation heard the affair.

COL. LINDBERGH REACHES NEW YORK

Macom landed "Lindy" at the Battery. A hundred brightly groomed police horses, bearing mounted officers, pranced excitedly while their riders strove to control the straining crowds.

More than 1,000 policemen formed a solid cordon in the two blocks between Pier A and the elevated station. From there to City Hall Park, where New York was to officially claim Colonel Lindbergh as her own, thousands of other policemen were stationed at intervals of ten feet. Half of the entire police force of 16,000 men were on duty somewhere along the line of march.

Preceded by an escort of 10,000 troops, "Lindy" was taken up thru lower Broadway, between dense throngs of people, to city hall, where his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, was awaiting to view the official reception of her son by the city.

At City Hall Park

At City Hall Park a huge throng assembled to witness the official welcoming in "Lindy's" honor. They occupied every available seat in three hastily constructed wooden grandstands and thousands more stood for blocks around.

It was a colorful assemblage. Women and girls, attired in bright colored gowns and waving flags, made up a large portion of this audience, but the men had their representation, too. Those in the grandstands had been admitted by special ticket. Mounted Police experienced difficulty in keeping the crowd back of the ropes.

From the windows of nearby skyscrapers ticker tape and torn bits of paper descended upon the heads of spectators.

As "Lindy" came up from the Battery, officials on the reviewing stand entertained the spectators by introducing dignitaries.

When the band playerd various inspiring tunes, the various consulgenerals in the city were presented. So were all the following:

Parade Starts

Major General James H. McCrae, and staff; Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett and staff; City Commissioners, members of the board of aldermen, the board of estimates, and finally the mayor and his military executive aides.

At 12:40 p. m. the start of the parade of 10,000 troops that were escorting "Lindy" up from the Battery swerved in off Broadway, led by a band. This was the signal for a wild outburst of enthusiasm from the crowd.

Peer Down From Windows

Heads popped out of windows of nearby buildings and it seemed as if many of the spectators were taking a long chance of their lives. The cornices of some of the buildings were so crowded with spectators that it seemed astounding that some of them did not fall off.

From window ledges of the Woolworth Building, as high as fifty stories up, people peered down at the spectacle.

The roof of the New York Post Office, across the square, was thronged and lower down scores more sat in perilous positions on cornices and other vantage points.

As the parade marched by the reviewing stand, the various units were identified and received hearty cheers from the massed thousands.

Colonel Lindbergh's triumphal march through lower New York was preceded by the steady march of tramping feet. Troop after troop of soldiers and battalion after battalion of sailors had started in parade long before Lindbergh landed. The escorting parade was greeted with echoing cheers as it passed through the canyon of skyscrapers, but great as the enthusiasm was the crowd was "holding fire" for "the Colonel."

Out to See Lindy

The splendor of troops on parade, the glory of beautiful girls on artistic floats, and even the shiny hats of politicians and diplomats failed to hold the usual lure for the crowds, pushing and jammed along the curbs. This was a Lindbergh welcome and the crowds save their enthusiasm for the slender youth and for him alone. The thousands of others who marched in parade were just so many marchers.

Great applause broke forth when the "old 69th", famous Irish fighting regiment, marched by. This was Father P. Duffy's regiment. Then followed in order the 369th (colored) regiment, the 14th regiment and the 107th regiment, and as each regiment passed the throng broke into cheers.

Necks were craned a few minutes after one o'clock when a fleet of airplanes swept over city hall. First came a group of five, quickly followed by others. Most of them were flying in V and diamond formations. They did not fly very low, due to the danger of injury to spectators in the event of an accident.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh, the flyer's mother, who arrived by train early today, came to the City Hall accompanied by Mrs. James J. Walker, wife of the mayor, and friends. Before going to the mayor's office, from where she witnessed part of the parade in front of City Hall, she was taken over the uptown route of the parade. All along Fifth avenue cheers, automobile horns and sirens swelled in a welcome to her.

Mrs. Lindbergh smiled and waved at the crowds. She seemed especially interested and a trifle astonished over the manner in which New York had bedecked itself to greet her son. She commented often about the decorations to Mrs. Walker. They were escorted by motorcycle policemen as they motored to City Hall.

Airplanes zoomed across city hall plaza just missing, it seemed, the towers of some of the skyscrapers.

The crowd waited impatiently for "Lindy's" appearance and when it was announced over the radio that he was only five minutes or so away, the throng almost leap-frogged over each other in an effort to obtain a glimpse of the hero of the air.

A terrific roar shook all Broadway as the tail-end of the parade turned into city hall plaza with Lindbergh in its wake.

Six School Houses Are Sold Saturday

Shenango Township School Board Rejects All Bids For Pupil Transportation

At a meeting of Shenango township school board Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selling schoolhouses rendered obsolete on account of the erection of the new consolidated schools, the bids for East New Castle, Savannah, Brown, McKee, Warnock and McCaslin school buildings were accepted. There were several other buildings advertised on which there were either no bids or the bids were rejected.

All of the bids for transportation of pupils to the new consolidated schools were rejected, it being the opinion of the members of the board that they were too high. It was decided that the township can likely purchase busses and employ drivers cheaper than by letting the work out by contract.

The board is accordingly going to advertise for prices at which busses will be sold to the township. As soon as these prices are obtained further action will be taken.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINTS

Many women do their own house work and eat their noon meal alone consider it a waste of time and an extravagance to eat a really, truly meal. If they are very much overweight it may be permissable to omit the noon meal occasionally or eat sparingly, but if women are underweight—as many women are during middle age, between 25 and 40, they should take time to get themselves a good luncheon based on the laws governing gain in weight. And they should take time to eat it quietly so that it may do them the most good. Following is a menu for such a luncheon, suggested by an expert.

Cream of Celery Soup
Rolls Butter
Medium sized Lamb Chop
Baked Potato
Lettuce Salad with Dressing
Cafe au lait—half Milk, half coffee.

Any cream soup may be substituted for the cream of celery. The quantities that should be eaten are stated as eight ounces of the soup which contains 200 calories and vitamines A and B. Two rolls, 230 calories, vitamine B. The lamb chop contains 200 calories and A, B vitamines, a ball of butter 80 calories. A vitamine; two ounces of lettuce 10 calories, vitamines A, B, C while the French dressing gives you 100 calories. The milk in the coffee adds 80 calories with vitamines A and B, making a total for the luncheon of 1,160 calories.

SUGGESTIONS
Turning the Mattress

It is always such a hard task to turn over the mattress. Sew a piece of heavy ticking, one inch wide and twelve inches long, at each corner of the mattress. These serve as hand holds and make it easy to handle.

In Day's News

One of the most adventurous women of the day is the Duchess of Bedford. Her latest feat has been a tour of Spain in an areopiane, undertaken for the purpose of studying mountain eagles in their natural surroundings. Accompanied by a pilot, the Duchess has flown over the Pyranees and other Spanish mountain ranges, a risky proceeding as anyone who has flown over great mountin areas will agree. But the Duchess has returned safely to England and is very pleased, it is said with the results of her romantic trip. The Duchess of Bedford has long been known as one of the best all-around sports-women in England. She is devoted not only to shooting but also to fishing and yachting. At Woburn Abbey she has a wonderful collection of wild animals; indeed, it is considered to be one of the best private "zoos' in the world.

America seems to have reached a new height of absurdity. The wet East is suffering from disastrous fires and the dry South is under water.—Howard Brubaker.
